A 3-Billion Business
Ford's New Plan
Educating the Young
A Night Club Lady

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

MANY kinds of big business are in America, from railroads to oil and from meat to coal. The biggest of all, according to investigators of crime in Washington, is the "fence" business, the receivers of stolen goods.

* * *

Big business deals with thieves receiving things they steal, putting crime on a business basis, amount to three thousand million dollars a year. At more than half is profit.

Every "fence" is an accessory to the burglars, etc. and should go to jail for life. But that would be interfering with big business. We don't DO that.

* * *

CYRUS H. K. CURTIS, whose newspaper axe reaches "from Paris to Peking and from Peking to Rome," says Ford plans this way to market cars: Pay down $150, get your car. Each month you pay $12.50. At the end of a year you can have the car overhauled, or get a new car, without putting down another $160. It's a sort of half-renting, half-buying scheme. Only one investment of $150, and after that, as long as you live, you can drive a car in good condition for $12.50 a month, about 42 cents a day. Some alleged "Ford ideas" Ford never heard of. Perhaps this is one of them.

* * *

A BROOKLYN public school teacher admits that he compelled small boys to engage in fist fights. The boy had his choice of engaging in a fight or being reported to his parents. If the child refused to fight he was called "yellow." It would be interesting to know what the teacher's superiors will say about that teacher, and what they will call him.

* * *

INTELLIGENT politicians and intelligent promoters exploit prize-fight brutality for big profits, of course. Men that have the price can buy the right to break the laws against assault and battery.

But prize fighting ought not to be the part of any public school course, legally as there is no cash in it; at least a little amusement for teachers.

* * *

A WOMAN who manages a night club marries her daughter to a British peer, and the world wonders for a minute. It need not wonder. Read the memoirs of the Duke De Saint Simon, and learn how eager were men, with the greatest of names, to marry any sort of illegitimate daughter of a queer king. The history of England will also tell you on what many of the great "titles" are based, namely, on "easy virtue, royal caprice." A night club keeper is a REAL woman compared with some well-known duchesses in history.

* * *

THE New York Bible Society orders a special edition of 1,000,000 Bibles and every theatrical chorus girl "traveling on the road" shall have one.

They might appropriately mark for the young woman an appropriate line from the forty-seventh chapter of Isaiah. "Make bare the leg, uncover the thigh."

* * *

LITTLE Roumanian King Michael, six years old, misses his grandfather, the late king, and puts a lamp in his window every night that his grandfather "up in the sky" may see where the little boy is. That is a thought as old as religion, which has taught many generations of little boys that a great Father in the sky watches them and knows exactly where they are.

* * *

WALL STREET was cheerful yesterday, thinking the new tax law would compel some big corporations to distribute "undivided profits." Many a pleasing hundred million dollars would come into circulation if that law were made effective.

* * *

A GENTLEMAN in Washington, assistant of another gentleman accused of helping to steal government oil reserves, says he can't say anything about alleged tampering with the jury in the Fall-Sinclair oil case. It might "incriminate him."

And the government threatens to arrest him if he will not testify.

* * *

IS not that an extreme threat? And is the government unmindful of the fact that "big money" is involved? We don't look up people that steal big money or that bribe cabinet officers or jurors to help them in the stealing—not in THIS country.

* * *

THE other day an English father confessed that he had drowned his child to end its sufferings. Doctors told him the child could not live. He was acquitted. Now a woman is accused of giving her mother poison to end hopeless suffering from malignant cancer. The law cannot afford to justify killing.

* * *

IN St. Luke's Hospital, Chicago, a major operation is said to have been performed on a woman under hypnotic control, no anaesthetic. Physical suffering and all other troubles are in the brain. Ask your Christian Science friend. There is no reason why hypnotism should not take the place of chloroform, except that failure to remain hypnotized through the operation would be embarrassing. Local anaesthesia with cocaine would help. Perhaps it did in the Chicago case.

Marion Visited By First Snowfall of Year

LIGHT SKIFF ACCOMPANIED BY COLD BLAST

Eastern Sections of State May Get Additional Fall Saturday, Forecast

COAL ORDERS JUMP

Light Garments Give Way to Overcoats and Regular Winter Apparel

Marion's first snow fall of the season was recorded early today when a light skiff swirled through the streets shortly before 6 a. m. It melted as it fell.

Eastern sections of the state may get additional snow Saturday, according to today's forecast of the weatherman. Cloudy and colder weather with possible local rains is on the bill for tonight in northern sections. Saturday will be cloudy and cooler throughout the state, the weatherman says.

Marion residents dug into the winter's coal supply early this morning when the temperature dropped to 33 degrees, one point above the freezing level. Yesterday's high mark was 59 degrees. A year ago today the maximum temperature was 41 degrees and the minimum 32.

Coal Orders Jump

Today's wintry signs were attended by increased orders for coal and an increase in consumption of natural gas. Many filling stations reported increases in the use of high test gasoline and a consequent dropping off in the demand for the inferior grades. A few sales of denatured alcohol for automobile radiators also were reported.

A change was also noted in wearing apparel, top coats and light wraps giving way to overcoats and heavier garments.

DEMOCRATS DECIDE TO CONTINUE PLAN

Campaign To Be Restricted to Advertising and Personal Solicitation

Democratic candidates for municipal office and members of the city committee held their final pre-election meeting last night and decided to wind up their campaign along the same lines that have been followed during the last few weeks. This means that there will be no formal platform drawn up and that the campaign will be restricted entirely to advertising and personal solicitation of votes by the various candidates.

Last week a proposal to draw up a public statement outlining the party's stand on municipal government was under consideration, but the plan was dropped after being discussed at several conferences.

It was announced at last night's meeting, held at the office of Frank T. Campbell, candidate for president of council, that practically all of the Democratic nominees are conducting personal campaigns, including solicitation of votes and distribution of cards in all sections of the city.

BURNS TO DEATH

Destitute Woman Believed To Have Deliberately Set Fire to Hen-House

Toledo, Nov. 4—A further investigation into the death of Mrs. Anna Barnes, 48, whose charred body was found in the smouldering ruins of a hen-house on her farm near Swanton, was under way today.

City Judge Charles Lemon, acting coroner, said indications were that the woman deliberately set fire to the building and burned herself to death. She had been a widow for four years, was believed to have been in destitute circumstances, and fear of being taken to the county infirmary was assigned as a motive.

SECRECY SHROUDS RUMORED WEDDING

New York, Nov. 4—Although a "Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Ramos" are booked to sail Nov. 10 for South America, no official confirmation was available today of the reported marriage of Mary Millicent Rogers to Arturo Peralta Ramos, "South American Adonis."

Reports were current that the former wife of Count Ludwig Saim and heiress to the $40,000,000 Rogers Standard Oil estate had already married Ramos, but so far no confirmation was to be had other than the booking for passage of "Mr. and Mrs. Ramos."

SEVEN DIE IN FLOOD HOLDING GRIP ON EAST

Scores Homeless and Many Marooned; Reservoirs Near Bursting Point

STREAMS ARE SWOLLEN

Entire State of Vermont Hit; Hudson and Mohawk Rivers Overflowing

Boston, Nov. 4—Lowlands of Vermont and parts of Massachusetts today were in the grip of one of the worst floods ever recorded in this section of the country.

Seven persons were reported dead, scores homeless, many marooned and many more in danger.

Residents of Rutland and Montpelier were reported to have put in a night of terror. Both cities were in darkness with reservoir dams about to burst.

Railroad traffic in Vermont and in Western Massachusetts was almost entirely paralyzed. Telephone and telegraph service was cut off.

Work All Night

In many Vermont cities and towns scores of families, marooned in their homes by rising waters, were rescued by rowboats. In Rutland, Vt., the militia aided in the work of rescue, the southern section of that city being almost entirely under water.

According to meager information trickling in here, volunteers worked throughout the night to prevent the Patch Dam in the reservoir a mile above Rutland from bursting. Another volunteer band worked at the dam of Chittenden Reservoir six miles from Rutland.

White River Junction, the big railroad center on the Connecticut River, was almost isolated and railroad trains were stalled in all directions.

EASTERN NEW YORK'S WORST FALL FLOOD

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 4—Eastern New York today was experiencing the worst fall flood in years. The Hudson and Mohawk Rivers were overflowing their banks, inundating sections of Albany, Troy and Schenectady.

The Hudson River at this city was a foot above the flood stage and was rising nearly one foot an hour. The Mohawk River at Schenectady was two feet above flood stage and rapidly rising.

Lisbon, Nov. 4—The German seaplane D-1220, piloted by Horts Merz, which will attempt a flight to the United States, took off for the Azores today.

The plane is making a flight from Germany to America by way of Lisbon and the Azores. It came here from Vigo, Spain, where it was forced down on a flight from Germany.

FORTY LODGES INVITED INTO LEGION PARADE

Armistice Day Celebration This Year To Rival That of 1918

MARDI GRAS FEATURE

Public To Be Asked To Mask and Join in Merriment

Plans for Marion's celebration of Armistice Day, which is expected to be one of the most enthusiastic patriotic demonstrations witnessed here since the original Armistice Day event in 1918 are taking definite shape with indications that all details will be completed early next week, Oscar Gast, chairman of the committee in charge, said today.

He expects to have practically a complete list of organizations which will take pare in the parade compiled within a few days. This list, together with a final outline of the program including the parade line-of-march will be made public prior to the date of the celebration.

Yesterday invitations were mailed to approximately 40 local fraternal and patroitic organizations urging them to participate. Responses have already been received from several.

Two Bands Entered

Assurance that there will be plenty of music to enliven the occasion is already at hand, two bands having arranged to appear in the parade. These are the Kadgar Grotto and Harding High School Bands. It is also expected that the Odd Fellows Band and Eagles Drum Corps will be in the procession.

The plan to have the celebration at night resemble the notable demonstra-

PLEAD FOR REVISION OF INCOME TAX LAW

Reduction Question Shelved Temporarily; Say Honest Business Penalized

Washington, Nov. 4—Pleas for an extensive revision of the federal income tax law to remove handicaps upon business and prevent double taxation, were made before the house ways and means committee today.

The question of tax reduction was shelved temporarily by the committee to consider revision—regarded by some members as the most important tax problem facing congress.

Representatives of great business organizations asserted at the committee's hearing that honest business is being penalized by inequitable taxation. Instances of actual double taxation were cited.

On the other hand, demands are being made that the law be revised to prevent families of great wealth from escaping taxation through creating holding companies and trust funds, and the piling up of great undistributed surpluses in family-owned corporations.

SELECT JURY

Twelve Men To Decide Fate of Eddie Peppers, Negro

Gallipolis, Nov. 4—Twelve men were seated in the jury box as the trial of Eddie Peppers, 31, negro, charged with killing Mrs. Florence Buck, postmistress at Grimms Landing, W. Va., got under way here today.

Peppers is alleged to have choked Mrs. Buck to death after attacking her in a hotel room here. Opening statements to the jury were being made by prosecution and defense after the jury had been seated.

HALLOWE'EN PRANKS BACK OF ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

Cleveland, Nov. 4—Said to have been brooding over destruction of his property by boys on Hallowe'en, Frank Forgrave, 45, attempted to drink poison here. His wife knocked the bottle from his hand and he was rushed to a hospital, where doctors said he would recover.

NEW TRIAL IS GIVEN LENGEL

Court of Appeals Grants Petition of Former Canton Chief

Youngstown, Nov. 4—S. A. Lengel, former Canton chief of police, today was granted a new trial by the court of appeals sitting in Mahoning County.

Lengel was convicted of complicity in the Don Mellett murder at Canton and was sentenced to life imprisonment. A jury found him guilty of first degree murder with a mercy recommendation.

The ex-police chief, who held office at the time the young editor of the Canton Daily News was slain by representatives of the Canton vice ring, in July, 1926, was accused by the state of being one of the ring which plotted Mellett's death, as a result of the editor's campaign against vice and alleged police corruption in Canton.

FAITH NEVER SHAKEN, DECLARES LENGEL

Columbus, Nov. 4—"My faith in the eventual victory of truth has never been shaken, and the action of the court of appeals at Youngstown granting me a new trial is no surprise," S. A. Lengel, former police chief at Canton, declared at the Ohio Penitentiary here today when informed that the appellate court had granted him a rehearing of the first degree murder indictment. Lengel is serving a life sentence for complicity in the killing of Don Mellett, Canton newspaper publisher.

CORNING TOWN HALL, BUILDINGS ARE LOST

Swept by $35,000 Blaze; Departments from Three Cities Make Runs

New Lexington, Nov. 4—Fire which swept through the business section of Corning, near here, early today, partially destroying the city hall and other important building, was brought under control after fire departments from New Lexington, Glouster and New Straitsville had responded to the alarm.

The loss, which was partially covered by insurance, was estimated at $35,000. The buildings destroyed were: The M. E. Joyce Warehouse, Gabe Hardy Pool Room, Owls' Lodge and club rooms, the town hall and the M. E. Joyce Grocery.

Defective wiring in the Joyce Building, where the fire originated, was believed to have started the flames. The fire department from Glouster, eight miles distant, made the run in 15 minutes and was the first on the scene.

GRANDSTAND BURNED

Vandalism Charged by Clippinger; Rumor Fire Was Celebration

Westerville, Nov. 4—Charging that the burning of the Otterbein University grandstand here early today "is a downright piece of vandalism," Rev. W. G. Clippinger began investigation of the fire which destroyed the $1,500 structure. Rumors at the college are that the framework was kindled in celebration of Otterbein's 14-0 victory over Baldwin-Wallace last Saturday.

According to witnesses the grandstand was enveloped in flames when the fire was discovered soon after midnight. Those who visited the scene reported the strong odor of naptha.

WON'T GIVE FARM BLOC RADIO USE

Washington, Nov. 4—The senate farm bloc will not be granted the use of short wave radio channels to transmit farm relief information to Muscatine, Iowa, for rebroadcast to the country from Station KYNT, it was learned by International News Service today.

Senator Brookhart, Republican of Iowa, and a group of advocates of the McNary-Haugen Bill, had considered a radio program of wide scope to enlist support for their plan of agricultural relief.

The plan embraced a short wave channel to transmit the information to Muscatine, Iowa, where it would be put on the air from the station operated by Norman Baker, Iowa politician, and backer of Senator Brookhart.

SANITY HEARING FOR REMUS CANCELLED

Former King of Bootleggers To Be Tried for Murder Nov. 14

Cincinnati, Nov. 4—By agreement of prosecution and defense attorneys here today in the case of George Remus, former "king of bootleggers," indicted for the murder of his wife, Imogene Remus, the insanity hearing for Remus, scheduled Monday, Nov. 7, has been cancelled, and Remus will face trial on a murder charge Nov. 14.

Judge Chester R. Shook, in common pleas court today read the report of the alienists appointed to examine Remus, which said:

"We, the undersigned, appointed by the court to examine George Remus to determine whether or not, in our opinion, he is sane or insane, respectfully request further time to continue our observations."

Attorney Elston, Remus' counsel, asked the court what effect it would have on the murder trial, if the alienists should reach a verdict upon the sanity or insanity of Remus prior to the beginning of the murder trial.

"It will have no effect whatever," replied the court.

Hearing on the depositions taken in Atlanta, Chicago, Grand Rapids, and other cities by the defense and prosecution in the recent "deposition tour" which they made, will begin in Judge Shook's courtroom here Monday morning, to determine the admissability of this testimony, the court announced.

POMERENE DEMANDS BLACKMER BE CITED

Government Counsel Files Motion When Witness Fails To Appear

Washington, Nov. 4—A motion calling upon H. M. Blackmer, missing witness in the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy mistrial, to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt of court and $100,00 of his property seized for failure to answer a subpena, was filed in the district supreme court here today by Atlee Pomerene, special attorney.

Blackmer wanted to tell of the Continental Oil deal that figures prominently in the government's allegation that H. F. Sinclair bribed ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, went word from Paris, where he was served, that he regarded himself as outside the jurisdiction of the court and therefore would not answer the subpena.

AMERICAN STEAMER IS STRANDED ON ROCKS

Copenhagen, Nov. 4—The American steamer Bermuda, of Philadelphia, was stranded on the rocks at Vinga, near Gothenburg, today.

Following tugs and aids have rushed to the assistance.

SINCLAIR, FALL TRIAL JAN. 16

Justice Siddons Sets Date for Second Hearing in Oil Case

Washington, Nov. 4—Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil king and former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall must stand trial for the second time on charges of conspiracy to defraud the goernment on Jan. 16.

On petition of government counsel, Justice F. L. Siddons this morning set this date for the renewal of the Teapot Dome oil case, the first effort to try which ended in a sensational mistrial when evidence of jury tampering was uncovered.

Atlee Pomerene, special government counsel, and District Attorney Peyton Gordon asked for a date in January, because it would be impossible sooner to reassemble the prosecution witnesses, most of whom have returned to their homes in the far west.

The date was satisfactory to defense counsel, who appeared to hear Siddon's decision.

Seek Witnesses

The federal grand jury's investigation of charges of jury-tampering in the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy case was enlivened today by strenuous efforts on the part of federal authorities to locate missing witnesses.

Subpenas have been issued for Sheldon W. Clark, vice president of the Sinclair Refining Co. and for a former Burns Detective Agency official, who is reported to have hurriedly left the capitol taking with him important office files of the Burns agency in Washington. Inquiries have been made at the state department. It was learned, to ascertain if this Burns agent has been granted a passport.

INSURGENTS IN OPEN TO HALT GOV. LOWDEN

Senator Nye Revives Slush Fund Charges Raised in 1920 Convention

Washington, Nov. 4—The opposition of the senate insurgent bloc toward the presidential aspirations of Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois was out in the open today with Senator Gerald P. Nye, Republican of North Dakota, reviving the "slush fund" charges raised against the Illinoisan at the 1920 convention.

The insurgents plan to defeat Lowden's candidacy, it was learned, even if they have to stump the western country against him. He will be attacked on the old "slush fund" issue, although the insurgent opposition will be based chiefly on Lowden's connection with railroad interests of the country.

Senator Smith W. Brookhart, Iowa insurgent, as well as Nye, declared there would have to be radical changes in railroad administration and a sharp reduction in rates before agriculture can secure economic equality with business. The insurgents feel Lowden, while indorsing the McNary-Haugen Bill, would vigorously oppose the suggested railroad reforms.

FLIGHT IS OFF

Mrs. Grayson Sailing Tonight on Majestic for Southhampton

New York, Nov. 4—Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson, owner of the plane, "The Dauntless" in which she attempted to make a non-stop flight across the Atlantic, informed International News Service today that she was sailing tonight on the Majestic for Southhampton.

Mrs. Grayson refused to make any statement regarding her plans, except to admit that her proposed flight was off, at least "for the time being." She said she expected to go to London, but did not know whether she would go on to Copenhagen, the proposed destination of her flight.

ENTIRE CORPS OF OFFICIALS TO BE ELECTED

Count of Votes To Be Interesting Solely Because of Uncertainty

ISSUES ARE LISTED

Candidates and Offices Sought Tuesday Also Described in Story

BY HARRY ELLIOTT
Star Staff Writer

Unless an unexpected bombshell is exploded in one of the local political camps at the last minute, the fall campaign will come to a close Monday, the day before election, with the record of having been one of the most tranquil and peaceful pre-election periods in the history of Marion County.

A state of almost absolute quiet and apparent lack of interest has prevailed in spite of the fact that an entire corps of city, school, township and village officials will be elected and several important state and local issues decided by the electorate.

There have been so-called "gum-shoe" campaigns in the past, but the one just coming to a close has been more than that. The trend of the candidates has been so light and indistinguishable that from all appearances they were no shoes at all—politically speaking.

All of which has created an extremely puzzling situation which can hardly be successfully diagnosed by even the most skillful and best informed politicians. The general opinion in the ranks of this erudite gentry is expressed in the ambiguous declaration that the proverbial cat may vault in almost any direction in a political contest carried on under these mysterious conditions.

So even though the campaign itself has been featured, up to this time, the count of the votes will be an interesting event solely because of the element of absolute uncertainty.

Despite the seeming apathy which has prevailed not only among the voters but even in the ranks of the candidates, the total vote cast next Tuesday may come very near to normal proportions, election officials state. If it does, the count will be an amazing climax to an amazing campaign.

Issues Are Listed

In last year's state and county election, a total of 11,873 votes were cast in Marion County for the two leading candidates for governor, Donahey, Democrat, receiving 5,910 and Cooper, Republican, 5,027.

In the city of Marion, Cooper polled 3,800 and Donahey 3,608 while in precincts outside the city the vote was Donahey 2,278 and Cooper 2,028.

Records show that the city is normally Republican by a substantial majority while the rural district and villages are Democratic.

There are the candidates and issues to be listed on ballots to be handed voters in Marion County Tuesday.

In the city of Marion, candidates for all municipal offices, board of education and township offices, two special state proposals, one a referendum on the Marshall Bills and the other an initiated bill for licensing chiropractors, a special tax levy proposal for remodeling of the courthouse and another for enlarging the city's sewer system.

Elect School Members

Outside the city of Marion, township, school and village officials and county school board members are to be elected. In addition voters in that territory will also cast their ballots on the two state proposals and the courthouse improvement project. In the Meeker School District there is to be still another ballot, listing a proposed three mill tax levy for operation of the schools. Should it be defeated, the Meeker School will face the puzzling problem of how to operate without money to cover expenses. Teachers and other officials of the school are now serving temporarily and without compensation in the hope that the vote next Tuesday will provide funds for their compensation.

The Marshall Bill referendum, which holds the center of the political stage throughout Ohio, is to decide whether the measure, as enacted by the state legislature, is to become a law. It provides a schedule of compensation for jurors and justices of the peace. Opponents of the bill assert that it is unconstitutional.

The chiropractors' initiative proposal if approved by the voters will establish a state license system for persons pre-

CITE CONFUSION ON LAW BALLOT

Wording of the Marshall Bill referendum ballot to be submitted to voters of Ohio next Tuesday, is somewhat complicated, resulting in considerable uncertainty over how the ballot should be marked to vote for or against the proposal.

The puzzle was solved today by John H. Clark, local attorney who has been taking an active part in the campaign in behalf of the bill.

It's simple when you know how.

Merely place a cross opposite the word "Yes." If you want the bill to become a law, and vote "No" if you are on the other side, Clark says.

Prominent Red Cross Man To Address Joint Meeting Of Rotary-Kiwanis Clubs

Everett Dix, Staff Assistant to Manager of Eastern Area of National Organization, To Speak Here Next Week on Work of Body

A message telling a complete and graphic story of the Red Cross and the great work it is accomplishing in America will be brought to Marion next week in connection with the annual Red Cross roll call campaign by one of the most prominent leaders in the national organization.

The message will come from Everett Dix, staff assistant to the manager of the Eastern Area of the American National Red Cross, in an address which he will deliver at a joint meeting of the local Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs.

Arrangements for the meeting and for the appearance of Mr. Dix here as speaker were completed today by George B. Knapp, general chairman of the annual roll call campaign, which is scheduled to start next Wednesday, Nov. 9.

The story of the Red Cross and its achievements as told by Mr. Dix is intended to launch the campaign by conveying to citizens of Marion County a clear and complete account of the organization and the vital importance and need of its services.

Meeting Set Nov. 10

The Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs were chosen as representative community organizations through which the message could be carried to the general public.

The joint meeting of the two clubs will be held in the Harding Hotel ballroom at 12 o'clock, noon, on Nov. 10. Several other program features are being planned in addition to the address by Mr. Dix.

The program is in charge of a committee from the Kiwanis club, consisting of Fred A. Stengel, C. Farr Larle and W. E. Orcutt.

General arrangements are under the direction of Mr. Larle of the Kiwanis Club and L. C. Stang of the Rotary club.

Chairman Knapp announced today that his organization for the annual roll call has been completed and will be made public in detail, Saturday. His force of workers includes representatives of not only the city of Marion but all other communities in the county.

The goal set for the roll call campaign is $10,000 and an effort will be made to reach every citizen of the county in soliciting support for the Red Cross. All but a small percentage of the fund raised will be used for local charity and welfare work.

To Close Nov. 14

The campaign will close Monday, Nov. 14! On Sunday, Nov. 13, a corps of workers representing local lodges will make a complete house-to-house canvas of the city. Prior to that, special committees will solicit membership in the business district and from industrial concerns.

Everett Dix, the man who will deliver the opening message of the local campaign, has been prominent in Red Cross work over a long period of years. He achieved especial note during the Mississippi flood disaster this year, when he directed relief work in a large section of the devastated area.

In Arkansas where the destruction was almost as great as in any other state of the affected area, he acted as special representative of the national headquarters and supervised the work of local chapters and committees handling the great emergency.

When not drafted for special duty in times of disaster and other emergencies, he assists in supervising all Red Cross work east of the Mississippi River in his position as staff assistant to the manager of that area.

CLOTHING AND WATCH TAKEN IN BURGLARY

Home of James Lingo, 127 Walnut-st, Entered While Family Is Absent

Burglars who entered the home of James Lingo, 127 Walnut-st, during the absence of the family early last night, stole a man's overcoat, a suit of clothes, a woman's coat and a wrist watch. The visit of the intruder was not discovered by the family until this morning when the clothing was missed.

The burglars, who entered the house by means of an unlocked door, committed the robbery some time between 7 and 9 o'clock while members of the family were at the house of a neighbor across the street.

One who "doesn't have an enemy in the town" isn't necessarily escorted to the depot with a brass band when he leaves it.

MAN IS HELD HERE ON NON-SUPPORT CHARGE

Sherman Barlow, 41, was arrested in Columbus yesterday afternoon and brought back to this city last night to face a charge of non-support filed in municipal court by Gertrude Miller, Wednesday. Barlow pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Martin in municipal court this morning and his hearing was set for Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. Barlow is charged with having failed to support his minor child since July 16.

Young men who pursue all the new styles are the same individuals who will hang on to those styles like grim death when they are 50.

ACIDITY CAUSES 90% DIGESTION TROUBLE

Avoid Fancy Treatments and Remove this Cause

While many things, directly or indirectly, may cause stomach trouble, any medical man will tell you that over nine-tenths of all cases of indigestion are due to or accompanied by acidity and food fermentaton. Excess acid accumulates in the stomach and turns the food into a souring, fermenting mass which produces painful gases and still more acid and is usually directly responsible for indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, acidity, flatulence, and gastritis.

Obviously you can not remedy these disorders by improving your blood or nerves, nor by clearing your system of impurities. Excellent as these processes may be as conducive to good health, that will not rid you of that harmful stomach acid. To do this quickly, safely and surely, you should take a little "Pape's Diapepsin" after eating or when pain is felt. This not only gives quick relief by instantly neutralizing stomach acid, but soothes and heals your acid-inflamed stomach lining.

"Pape's Diapepsin" is sold by all druggists at 60 cents a package, and is used by millions because it is not a "cure-all medicine" which pretends to remedy a hundred and one ills—"Pape's Diapepsin" stops indigestion instantly because it removes the cause.—Adv.

Said Jean Ackerman to Murrel Finley, Blanche Satchel and Myrna Darby while they rested between acts of The Ziegfeld Follies.

You, too, will find that LUCKY STRIKES give the greatest pleasure—Mild and Mellow, the finest cigarettes you ever smoked. Made of the choicest tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"IT'S TOASTED"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

© Bloom, Chicago

Mary Boland, the Delightful Actress, writes:

"For a number of years, I noticed that Lucky Strikes were the overwhelming popular cigarette with most actors. It was only natural, when I started to smoke, that I try Lucky Strikes. Now I know it is rightfully called 'the actors' favorite.' It is the most enjoyable cigarette and results in no throat irritation or harshness and this means everything to us of the stage."

PARALYSIS AGAIN APPEARS IN CITY

After a lapse of six weeks during which time no additional cases were reported, infantile paralysis again made its appearance in this city, with the placing of the quarantine this morning at the W. P. Latour home at 467 Pearl-st where a son, Buddy, 8, is afflicted with the disease.

The attending physician stated today that the attack was light, the right leg being only partially paralyzed. The boy is a student at the Pearl-st school and was first taken ill a week ago Wednesday. His condition improved, however, and it was thought by his parents that he had entirely recovered. On Thursday paralysis developed in the right leg. Aside from the paralysis, his condition is not regarded as serious.

Suspected Case

A suspected case of infantile paralysis was reported to the city health department yesterday when it was thought by the attending physician, that Mrs. Luella Green, Summit-st, was suffering from an attack of the malady. While no paralysis has developed, other symptoms lead the physician to believe the disease was infantile paralysis. The home was placed under quarantine by Sanitary Commissioner Charles Tobin, pending further investigation.

Miss Schrimplin, nurse from the State Department of Health, was in the city today interviewing physicians who have treated cases of infantile paralysis this summer and also obtaining a history of each case for use in the records of the State Board of Health.

13 PASTORS VISIT REVIVAL SERVICE

Special Evangelistic Group Rally Held at Oakland Church

With 13 visiting pastors in attendance, a special evangelistic group rally was held last night at Oakland Evangelical Church, in connection with the revival in progress there, there being good attendance. Dr. H. V. Summers of Columbus, presided, and Rev. R. A. Sain spoke on the mission church extension fund and E. F. Stephan of Upper Sandusky in the "Responsibility of Laymen in the Church." Rev. J. E. Campbell sang by request "Down from His Glory", and the Oakland Male Chorus, "Go Seek the Lost." Rev. E. W. Petticord, Columbus, spoke on "Evangelism" after which plans were made for a similar meeting in the near future.

Visiting pastors were Rev. A. C. Coldiron of Upper Sandusky, Rev. C. E. Osborne, Rev. E. W. Petticord, Dr. H. V. Summers, and Rev. R. A. Sain, Columbus, Rev. P. E. Smoke of Bucyrus, Rev. S. S. Davis of Butler, Rev. G. C. Strohl of Johnsville, Rev. C. L. Kerns, Bucyrus, N. W. Sager, Upper Sandusky, Rev. E. Radebaugh, D. J. Kauffman and Rev. J. E. Campbell, this city.

SCRATCH CAUSES DEATH

Berea, Nov. 4—A scratch on his hand, which developed into blood poison, caused the death of John Bailey, 65, retired farmer, in Berea Hospital Thursday. Bailey scratched his hand on a twig while picking apples several days ago.

Her Pimples Gone

Peterson's Ointment

"LAND AND SEA" COAT

Land and sea meet in the rich-looking winter coat pictured. Pelts from the jungle denizen—the leopard with its tawny spots—is combined with the dark, glossy coat of the inhabitant of the sea—the seal. The natural tones of the skins harmonize and make a most satisfactory wrap in appearance as well as warmth.

CAROL DENOUNCES RULE OF BRATIANO

Exiled Roumanian Prince Outlines Plans for Future in Interview

Paris, Nov. 4—Prince Carol today heatedly denounced the "tyranny and dictatorship" of the Bratiano government in Roumania and declared that "censorship in Roumania is savagely crushing all free expression of political thought."

The denunciation of the exiled prince came in the course of an interview in which he explained his plans for the future and the events which might lead to his restoration.

Although he stressed the fact that he would never return to Roumania except under constitutional conditions, Prince Carol let it be known that he has hopes that the first step toward his restoration may be taken by the convention of the National Peasants Party in November.

"The party can decide what its attitude toward my restoration to the throne will be," said Prince Carol, "and then the party must gain sufficient strength in subsequent elections to overthrow the present government. The next step then would be to repeal the law depriving me of the throne and exiling me from my country."

LOCAL SCHOOLS CLOSED FOR ASSOCIATION MEETS

Local schools closed today while city teachers attended the Central Ohio Teachers' Association meeting at Dayton, or Northeast Association Conference at Cleveland, or visited schools in other cities, according to their individual tastes. Only a few of the local teachers failed to attend the sessions or visit schools today who are not intending to go Saturday.

COMMITTEES NAMED FOR VISIT TO TOMB

Republican Women Name Persons To Have Charge of Pilgrimage Here

Chairmen for the various committees in charge of arrangements for entertaining Republican women making the pilgrimage to the Harding tomb Nov. 11, today announced their committees, through Mrs. Frank A. McKeever, county chairman and general chairman of the activities. "While committees are in charge of the plans for the entertainment of the pilgrimage guests every Republican woman in the county, as well as the citizens of Marion and vicinity are regarded as hosts for the day," Mrs. McKeever stated.

Mrs. Emma Uhler Voorhees, chairman of transportation will be assisted on her committee by Mrs. George Geran and Miss Mary Leonard. Mrs. W. H. Foster, chairman of information will be assisted by Mrs. Glen Dane, who will be stationed at the union depot, Mrs. John Snyder, interurban station; Mrs. C. E. Spohn and Mrs. Roland Beeman, Masonic Temple, and Mrs. D. L. Clark and Mrs. Foster, Harding Hotel. Mrs. French Crow, chairman of decorations for the luncheon here will be assisted by a committee composed of Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. George B. Knapp, Mrs. W. F. Pasters, Mrs. W. T. Jones, Mrs. Millard Hunt, Mrs. Chester C. Roberts and Mrs. Clifford Howser.

Luncheon Committee

Mrs. J. L. Hoover is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the luncheon which will be served in the dining room of the Masonic Temple. She will be assisted by Mrs. E. K. Uhler, Mrs. S. K. Gorham, Mrs. French Crow and Mrs. C. A. Anderson. Reservations for the luncheon may be made with Mrs. Hoover.

Miss Edith Eibling, chairman of the reception committee will be assisted by Mrs. W. E. Thew, LaRue; Mrs. B. D. Osborn, Waldo; Mrs. Fred W. Warner, Mrs. Charles H. Elliott, Mrs. W. H. Holverstott, Mrs. James R. Smith, Mrs. George B. Christian, Mrs. J. D. Williamson, Mrs. Roscoe Chorn, Mrs. Frank Phillips, Mrs. Frank S. Keiler, Mrs. Grant E. Mouser and Miss Blanche Seitz.

Reservations for the banquet at the Neil House, Friday night, Nov. 11, are in charge of Mrs. French Crow and Mrs. Addison Bain. Reservations are being received daily and the outlook is that Marion will be well represented. They will be accepted up to Monday afternoon, it is announced.

Parking Space

Mrs. Voorhess, chairman of transportation, today announced that the city lot at the corner of Church and Prospect-sts, would be available for the parking of the cars which will bring the delegation from Columbus, during the hours they will be in the city for the luncheon and ceremonies at the Marion Cemetery. Special traffic regulations will prevail during the stay of the delegation in the city, it is announced. While it is planned to have cars available for transportation for Marion people wishing to attend the services it is requested by Mrs. Voorhees that any one having available room in their cars or wishing to offer their car get in touch with her.

Reservations for the banquet at the Neil house, Friday night, Nov. 11, are in charge of Mrs. Addison Bain and Mrs. French Crow, and may be made up to Monday, she announced.

Chairmen and members of the committees will meet at 4 o'clock Moday night at the courthouse.

EVENING GOWN

The frock of white picador pictured is a Lelong model. It has a long drape at each side which makes the uneven effect at the hem. The radiating or sunburst trimming centering at the side, is used effectively.

WHEN CHILDREN FRET

It isn't right for the little tots to fret and they wouldn't if they felt right. Constipation, headache, worms, feverishness, bad breath; any of these will make a child fret. They need the pleasant remedy—MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS. They regulate the bowels, break up colds, relieve feverishness, teething disorders and stomach troubles.

Courting Time

BY TRUDA DAHL

© 1927, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc. Great Britain rights reserved.

THE season is Autumn. The place is the park. The time is for courting. Every day these two gallop side by side through the park all gold and brown. The crunching of the crisp leaves under the horses' hoofs plays an accompaniment to the warbling of the birds. And so the golden Autumn days pass.

"Make hay while the sun shines" is the motto of this young man, for he does not want Winter to come upon him unaware and deprive him of his golden opportunity. Thus he very cleverly lays his campaign and one day he asks her if she would not be his riding companion forever. Of course, she accepted.

O. N. U. ENDOWMENT CAMPAIGN OVER TOP

Contributions to University Total Near $275,000; Local Church Exceeds Quota

With $50,000 to $75,000 more than was actually needed the Ohio Northern University campaign for additional endowment of $200,000, was recently closed with splendid success.

Marion County's contribution of $6,064 exceeded by $304 the amount asked while the $4,480 pledged in Epworth M. E. Church, was $1,880 more than the quota. John H. Clark, official of Epworth Church, is also a trustee for the college. Dr. Albert E. Smith, president of the college which is located at Ada, and Dr. D. H. Bailey, vice president, are both former Epworth pastors.

The drive continued from Oct. 23 to 31. The money was needed that the university might retain its place in the American Association of Colleges, thus guaranteeing the standing of its diplomas and grades.

MAN NEAR DEATH

Toledo, Nov. 4—S. O. C. Pites, 38, was near death today, due to his being struck by an auto driven by a non-stop driver.

PEDIGREED BOSTON PUP RETURNED TO OWNER

"Queen," the 11-months-old Boston Bull terrier owned by Mrs. Sarah Wilson, 281 Patten-st, for whom ads were placed in Columbus and local papers and police in surrounding towns were notified when it disappeared from home Monday morning, was found yesterday, the owner said today.

According to Mrs. Wilson the dog had been taken by a Marion man to his home, a passerby having seen him pick the dog up and taken the number of his car as he recognized the animal as a pedigreed dog, notified Mrs. Wilson and the dog was returned. A $25 reward was given the Columbus man who found him, while driving through Marion in a truck.

EX-CASHIER HELD IN BANK SHORTAGE

Charge of $3,000 Check Forgery Filed; Losses May Exceed $125,000

Findlay, Nov. 4—Fred P. Conaway, 42, former cashier of the Arcadia Bank & Savings Co. of Arcadia, near here, was held in the county jail here today on a charge of forging a $3,000 check.

The Arcadia bank closed its doors yesterday with a shortage which may exceed $125,000, according to state examiners. Conway was arrested in Toledo later in the day and brought back here by county authorities.

According to J. E. Priddy, Hancock County prosecutor, Conaway has admitted that he absconded when he realized that thefts from the bank, for which he was responsible, were likely to be discovered. Conaway says he took the money to cover losses on the grain and stock exchange, according to the prosecutor.

Arcadia people learned of the affair when the bank failed to open its doors yesterday morning. A notice was posted to the effect that the bank could not open because of irregularities in its accounts.

Groups of farmers and townspeople stood in the streets all day while state examiners were checking the bank's books. Many depositors will be left destitute if the bank is unable to make up the losses, according to Priddy.

Findlay police immediately began a search for Conaway and he was picked up late yesterday at Toledo. Conaway left a note exonerating other employes of the bank of any responsibility in the matter.

tion which was staged in 1918 is being carried out in detail. As a part of this program, 1,400 "squawkers," a noise-making device designed especially for such occasions, have been ordered by the committee for distribution during the celebration. A large supply of red fire will also be purchased for the parade. Harland S. Kerr is head of a special committee which will distribute the "squawkers" and fireworks.

Will Be Mardi Gras

In addition to asking all local fraternal bodies and patriotic organizations to march in the parade, the committee has decided to invite all citizens, young and old, to appear in masquerade costumes and march in a special section alloted to them.

The mardi gras feature is to be given a prominent place in the night's festivities, Chairman Gast said, and it is possible that prizes may be offered for the best masquerade costumes.

Confetti will be supplied by the committee.

Observance Starts Early

The parade is to start at 7 o'clock at the Junior High School grounds with Major George T. Geran acting as grand marshal. It will be followed by a general mardi gras jollification on the streets and a dance and program of entertainment at the Eagles building on W. Center-st.

Observance of the day will begin at 11 o'clock in the morning with special ceremonies at Central Junior High School grounds. Whistles and bells will be sounded throughout the city during a five-minute period preceding the 11 o'clock program, which will include a salute of 11 guns, a two-minute silent tribute in memory of the World War dead, and a short address by Rev. Earl L. Holliday.

AKRON MAYORALTY RACE REACHES PROBE STAGE

Akron, Nov. 4—County Prosecutor Hunsicker has promised an immediate investigation into alleged irregularities in registration for the November election, reported by Ross Walker, manager of the campaign of G. L. Weil, candidate for mayor.

Walker reported excessive registrations in the third ward, which is said to be strongly Republican. Weil is a Democrat and opposes Mayor D. C. Rybolt in the coming election.

ARE YOU a "TOXIC"

A Complexion
You "Can't Do a Thing With"

Those pimples, yellow spots and that sallowness—they come from a deeper cause than you think. These skin blemishes are the symptom of a dangerous toxic or poisoned condition of the system which is due to a "half-dead" or sluggish liver. The liver becoming weak or congested under the strain of our abnormal living habits, fails to cleanse the blood of the poisons formed in food waste. Then toxemia with stubborn skin troubles. If complexion is bad it is a sign that the liver needs a little help. There is nothing better for this, as medical men know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall has been found to be a great natural stimulant for the liver which is a purifier of blood and skin. The genuine, pure ox gall is to be had, dainty and tasteless, in the form of Dioxol tablets. Each tablet represents 10 drops of pure ox gall and costs less than 2c at good druggists. To be sure of getting the genuine, look for the name Dioxol and picture of ox's head on the package.

Marilyn Miller's divorce from Jack Pickford may work for good in an unexpected way. It has so incensed the legal talent of France that a stop may be put to the practice of Americans getting divorces over there with less difficulty than they would ordinarily encounter in securing a traveling card.

The internal revenue bureau has just announced that the standards of living enjoyed by the people of the United States in 1926 was the highest ever attained up to that time. Something in excess of $108,000 has been raised in the American colonies in Paris and in the United States for the aged parents of Nungesser and Coli, but all they have received thus far is $500 given them by Mayor Walker, of New York, personally. It is little wonder that the Paris papers are beginning to refer to the situation as a public scandal.

"Herbert Hoover would be an invincible candidate," remarks the Washington Star, "if he could be sure of ballots in the same generous and sincere abundance that he receives boquets." That's the trouble in politics. It was the late Colonel Bryan who remarked that he could call out more applause and fewer votes than any one of his time running for the presidency.

Some Amazing Statistics.

Some amazing statistics relative to the safety of railroad travel were given out by the Interstate Commerce commission last week, its report for the first six months of the present year showing that but two passengers were killed on trains during that period. In reality, forty passengers were killed, but nineteen of them met death while getting on or off trains, eight by being struck by trains and eleven in miscellaneous ways.

The commission's figures show that the railroads of the country during the first half of the present year carried 416,530,000 passengers an average distance of thirty-nine miles. Thus it may be seen that only one passenger of 208,265,000 carried was killed while riding on a train and only one of 10,413,250 killed in any way.

Let us put it another way. During the six-month period the railroads carried 416,530,000 passengers an average distance of thirty-nine miles, thus the distance traveled by all of them was 16,144,670,000 passenger miles. In traveling 16,144,670,000 passenger miles but two passengers were killed while riding on passenger trains, or one passenger to 8,072,335,000 passenger miles.

We will admit that the figures in the preceding paragraph can not safely be taken as practical illustration of the safety of railroad travel, but without considering them, it is manifest from the commission's figures that a passenger on a passenger train in this country is much safer than such a passenger would be at home.

And yet many people who do not think of carrying accident insurance when at home very often take out short-term accident policies when they travel, thereby playing something of a joke upon themselves, for accident insurance statistics show that the great majority of accidents occur to people when following the ordinary courses of their occupations, and it is no secret that the premiums derived from the sales of short-term accident policies—we mean by short-terms, terms of from one to thirty days—are almost pure velvet for the insurance companies.

A Hard-Hearted Publisher.

It's simply a burning shame, the way Charles L. Knight, the iconoclastic publisher of the Akron Beacon-Journal and former congressman, is treating Charles V. Truax, Ohio state director of agriculture, and this is especially true since our state agricultural director has been so tirelessly working and spending the money of the tax-payers of the state to protect Ohio farms from the ravages of the European corn borer, which the director holds is an awful menace to agriculture and Knight holds does not exist.

The veteran editor got the director going by declaring in a recent speech in Coshocton that "there is no such thing as the European corn borer" and alleging that war has been made on the plain, old-fashioned reed worm, fitted out with a new name, simply to give employment to "an army of official papsuckers and to create a sale for machinery with which to destroy crops said to be infected by borers."

The reed worm long has been known in this country as a bait for fishhooks and probably never even visited Europe, where no Indian corn worthy the name, the editor holds, is grown.

To this, Director Truax responded that he had arranged with the bureau of entomology to send Knight some European corn borers—pyrausta nubialis hubn—and a number of bulletins telling of their ravages, but lamented that it probably would do the Akron publisher no good because "Knight knows there is no corn borer."

Knight replied to the director's announcement by saying:

"When I get Brother Truax's letter I shall of course answer it, as I always want to be nice and courteous. In the meantime, I am looking forward with pleasure to the consignment of 'pyrausta nubialis.'

"This is the reed worm which we have had with us since Noah left the Ark. They are excellent fish bait and as the bluegill season is not over yet they will come in handy."

And then to show that there is nothing mean in his make-up and that, despite their controversy, he would put the agricultural director on his guard against a real menace, Knight continued:

"In the meantime I want to call Truax's attention to another agricultural menace. It is a highly anti-social bug.

"I think it was brought over by Columbus. I am calling it the 'Patagonian Pea Pusher.'

"I am going to send Truax a can of them and I hope he will at once find berths for Democratic inspectors to go forth and slay this blasting beast.

"Indeed, winter is coming on and we need a tumblebug war to keep Truax's papsuckers in fodder until the grass comes again."

We sometimes wonder if the former congressman isn't totally lacking in the spirit of compassion. How else can we explain his slighting references to anything so sacred, in the eyes of our defenders against the encroachments of the insect world, as the corn borer be explained? Here he cold-bloodedly lets out that the so-called corn borer to combat which the state has been expending its money and the government has blown in $10,000,000 without accomplishing its destruction is nothing more than a worm he used for fishbait when he was a boy, and he adds insult to injury by saying he doesn't believe the so-called borer even knows that such a place as Europe exists!

And any way you look at it, his reference to papsuckers is highly unethical, the code of politics being squarely against recognition of such incumbrances in either of the two old parties. Worse than that, it is manifest that he is doing his utmost to throw a monkey-wrench into the congressional machinery which is to provide $10,000,000 or more next spring to fight the "pyrausta nubialis," and the year thereafter, and the year after that!

Really, it is a shock to us that one so utterly devoid of heart, one apparently so completely oblivious of the feelings of the tax-eaters and the rights of the political patriots, should be engaged in a profession which is looked to by them to exaggerate their virtues and gloss over their failings and faults!

There are two reasons why we can not take Charlie Schwab's place off his hands at his offer of $3,000,000. One is that it's a bit too ostentatious for a hard-working spreader of joy and sunshine in paragraphs, and the other is that we never would be content outside this very heart of the garden spot of the world.

Aside from the fact that he was married to Frances Goodrich, the actress, by a minister, in the regular way, without any outside contract, condition or reservation whatever, Hendrick Van Loon, the historian, says the published story of their five-year trial marriage is in every way just as true and authentic as the alleged interview with him on the subject which was never had, which leaves the free lovers still on the hunt for more ammunition.

Editor Frederick Franklin Schroeder of the New York Progressive rushes to the support of Mayor Bill Thompson, of Chicago, with the statement that the devilish scheme of King George to steal us from ourselves of which Mayor Bill complains had its inception in the dream of Cecil Rhodes to unite the English-speaking peoples of the world under one flag for eternal peace. The Honorable Bill is now due to get madder than ever. If there's one thing Bill hates it's peace.

Vagrant Verse.

A PRAYER FOR A NEW ANGEL.

God, God, be lenient her first night there.
The crib she slept in was so near my bed;
Her blue and white wool blanket was so soft;
Her pillow hollowed so to fit her head.

Teach me that she'll not want small rooms or me
When she has You and heaven's immensity!

I always left a light out in the hall—
I hoped to make her fearless in the dark.
And yet, she was so small—one little light.
Not in the room, it scarcely mattered.
Hark!

No, no, she seldom cried! God, not too far
For her to see, this first night light a star.

And in the morning, when she first woke up,
I always kissed her on her left cheek, where
The dimple was. And, oh, I wet the brush—
And made it easier to curl her hair.

Just, just tomorrow morning, God, I pray,
When she wakes up, do things for her my way!

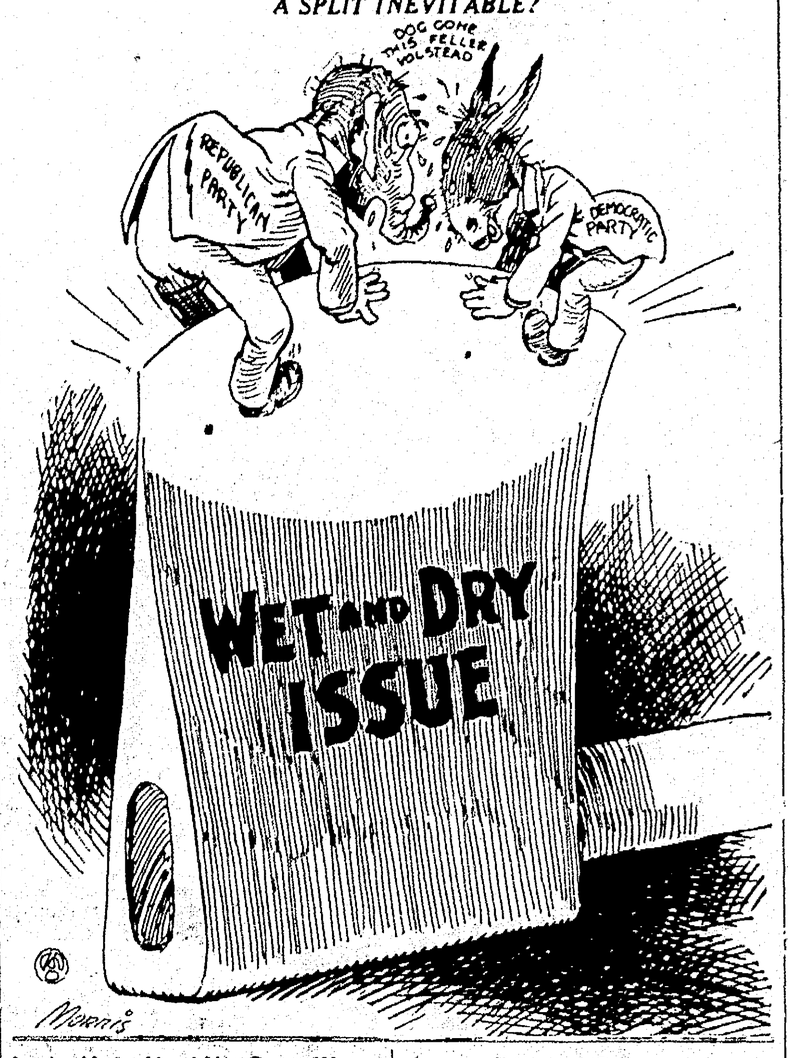
THE PRECARIOUS POSITION OF THE POLITICAL PARTIES. IS A SPLIT INEVITABLE?



Leaky Heart Need Not Cause Worry

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Of course we need all our organs. Each is essential to the well being. On this account it is difficult to say which is the most important organ.

Man can not get along without his brain and nervous system, or his liver, but the one organ which works day and night, from birth to death, is the heart. If it stopped work for an hour, life would be gone. Brain and liver might go on strike, but the heart must work or it is all over but the funeral.

The heart is a hollow organ, made largely of muscle. It is divided into two halves. The function of the right side is to pump blood into the lungs. The left side pumps blood into the general circulation and forcibly enough to cause the fluid to reach every part of the body. It drives it from the soles of the feet to the crown of the head.

You can see that the left side of the heart has the much more difficult job. It requires greater muscular effort and demands that that side shall be bigger and stronger than the right.

Not only are there two sides to the heart, but each side is divided into two parts. The upper part is a hollow space, called the "auricle." This receives the blood from the veins.

The lower space is called the "ventricle." It is its work to expel the blood, to pump it into the arteries.

Between the auricle and ventricle, on each side of the heart, are thin valves. If there were no such arrangement you can see that with every effort at pumping of the ventricle, the blood would be squeezed back into the auricle. There would be no such thing as "circulation" of the blood.

The heart valves are smooth on the side over which the blood flows when they are open. The under side is rough and fibrous. They are supposed to be of such size, and, when called upon, to act so accurately that the opening they guard shall be perfectly closed.

As a matter of fact, however, it is not at all uncommon to find a defective valve. It fails to do its part and, in consequence, there is a leakage of blood. When this is a regular thing, we speak of the organ as being a "leaky heart," and the sound it makes when the chest is listened to is called a "murmur."

So important is the heart in the imagination of the public that the mention of "heart disease" throws a chill over the whole family. Leakage of the heart is regarded as heart disease and, on this account, is one of the dreaded things.

Of course, every case must be considered on its merits. But it is pretty safe to say that a leaky heart is not a thing to shorten life. Where there is a defect in a heart valve and no important complication, it may be regarded as the least serious of all heart ailments.

Disease of the heart muscle is more serious. But a leaky heart, even when picked up in childhood and continued all through the years, will permit its owner to live to advanced old age without suffering or great inconvenience.

Editorial Comment.

MARIE, MOTHER AND QUEEN.

The flurry caused in Roumania by the discovery of an alleged plot to place former Crown Prince Carol on the throne is reported to be subsiding. At any rate, Premier Bratiano told the parliament that the affair was "closed," and from Paris the would-be king is quoted as saying that he prefers to wait quietly for a call from his country, "if indeed the call ever is to come." Possibly the premier-dictator spoke too optimistically, while Carol may have wished merely to camouflage a fresh intrigue, if he is cooking one up.

The net result of the flare-up—whether or not it had been artificially created by the government, as some critics now allege—seems to have been to give to the Carolist movement an impetus which it formerly lacked. With a little more of such free advertising, accompanied by more repression at the hands of M. Bratiano, it bids well to assume genuine importance and attract real support. It may be that M. Bratiano sensed this possibility when he made his declaration.

Meanwhile the commotion continues to breed no end of rumors, which the strict Roumanian censorship only encourages. As to their degree of accuracy it is difficult enough to judge on the spot—and even more so at this distance. Among the seemingly more justifiable guesses we should place the one which has Queen Marie breaking with the Bratiano regime over its hostility toward Carol, her wayward first-born and alleged pretender. The last straw, we are told, was the interception of a letter from Carol to his mother, which M. Bratiano withheld from her.

For the dictator to wound the maternal affection of a proud woman like Marie for her child, even for reasons of state, is to play with fire. For Marie to accept such an insult tacitly would be to belie her courage and risk her prestige. Though presumably content to stand by the present dynastic arrangement, with her six-year-old grandson, Michael, on the throne, the queen-dowager is an intensely human person. Evidently she resents intrusion into her relations with her exiled son. How she will manage this conflict of duties toward the state and her own child, time will tell. It is beginning to look like a choice between Bratiano and Carol. After all, she was Carol's mother before she became Roumania's queen.—Detroit Free Press.

SORE AND RUDE.

The abrupt, almost surreptitious way in which Ambassador Rakovsky made his exit from France after Moscow found itself unable to force him any longer on the government in Paris was a striking and singularly interesting exhibition of bad manners. And it was more than that. In quitting the French capital without going through the farewell formalities that established rules of international courtesy and usage demand, and that would have been observed by an envoy from a barbarian Africa state, Rakovsky acted like an undisciplined small boy with a "mad on." He was sore, and he lacked the sense and self-control to try to hide the fact. He wanted to insult his late hosts, and he did it in the crude, rather pitiful way which alone was within his command. It is easy to imagine him turning as he crossed the French frontier to stick out his tongue at the whole Gallic race.

The exhibition provided the world by the ex-soviet envoy to France should provide psychologists with material for several hours of profitable study. It is a demonstration of one reason why ordinary diplomatic and social intercourse can not be carried on successfully with bolshevist Russia by the adult, civilized nations of the world. As well try to enter into such relations with a tribe of New Guinea savages.—Detroit Free Press.

X-Rays and Evolution.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

The developments of the X-ray seem endless. Whenever a new vibratory form of energy comes to man's notice and more or less under his control, his powers and possibilities experience an enormous stimulation. It is that type of energy that has given us the marvels of radio, which would have seemed to John Milton highly suitable attributes for the angels who visited the Garden of Eden to instruct, to warn and, incidentally, to maze Adam in his state of innocent ignorance.

But some surprising experiments recently made by Professor Muller, of Texas university, caution us to go a little slow when handling these new powers so unexpectedly put in our way. Too much temerity may lead to disastrous results of a character that could not have been foreseen. Professor Muller reported his conclusions before the recent congress on genetics, held in Berlin. The raison d'etre—reason for being—of genetics lies in its bearing on the future development and fate of the human race.

Who could have guessed that the X-rays have an influence upon the reproductive cells, capable of "speeding up the process of evolution over 150 times?" To illustrate the meaning of this statement consider Professor Muller's experiment with the familiar, and as famous as familiar, little "fruit fly," which has served curious science so well in recent years as a sacrificial offering to the gods of hidden knowledge.

He "rayed" large numbers of these devoted flies with the magic-working vibrations and then, as Science Service reports, waited for results. The first generation were normal like their parents, but among the second generation the grandchildren, were numerous mutation or "sports," with abnormal wings, eyes and other organs.

These were the same kind of things geneticists have been observing for many years in their studies of evolution, but they were produced over 150 times as frequently as they are accustomed to occur naturally.

It is supposed that this remarkable effect was produced through some influence exerted by the rays upon the reproductive units called "genes." The why and the how of this influence remain unexplained, but Professor Muller was led by his study of the extraordinary phenomenon to caution physicians in the use of X-ray therapy, because "the reproductive cells of human beings are probably just as susceptible to the influence of these rays as were those of his experimental insects, and heavy rayings of the genital tract might have lamentable results in future generations."

Some dull-eyed pessimist who is fond of wailing that science will some day bring us to grief with its constant prying behind mysteries which would better be left undisturbed, or respectfully appeased with superstitious rites, may seize upon this as a possible case in point. But forewarned is forearmed, and it is not in the nature of knowledge to harm its possessors. —Copyright, 1927.

Twenty Years Ago.

This day was Monday.

The steamship, City of Birmingham, struck a rock in Boston harbor and sank and was a total loss. Fortunately, no passengers were aboard and the officers and crew escaped in lifeboats.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

New York, Nov. 4—Thoughts while strolling—The girls around casting agencies—chattering like birds on a limb. Flitting here and there to nowhere. The Greenwich Village poet who drives a taxi. Richard Connell, the short story writer.

A pedigreed pup in a fur-trimmed sweater scratching a flea. Golf stockings for sale in a drug store. Bruce Barton resembles Gene Tunney. The town is more torn up than ever. A city that walks the plank. The boys tossing "nifties" in front of the automat.

Otto Kahn's shaggy eyebrows. Girls who carry knee length vanity bags. The dull thump of dance academy orchestras. Anemic gigolo types loafing about the entrances. The short, stump men who hang around newsstands. A hundred new cleansing creams.

A window full of electric lemon-squeezers. Alfred Cheney Johnson, who photographs Follies girls for Ziegfeld. And helps him select them. A blonde blatantly rouged buys a birth control tract. A Yuma, Arizona, auto banner. Walter Catlett, the comedian.

The cafe waiters who stand swaying waiting for the evening trade. Taxi drivers slumped in their seats reading evening papers. Funny how dusk brings a feel of gaiety along Broadway. A psychologist says it's the light. Harry Acton, the ship news reporter. And Jack Osterman.

About the only hour when the demi-monde look fresh. While run-to-seed types look their worst. Disjointed cries. And the tight press of crowds. The human river flowing in frivolity. Stage players who step into back stage doors and look back. To see if they are noticed.

At night there is something terrifying about New York's indifference. Nothing matters. Nobody cares. Two old ladies fumble in their purses before a five dollar show. And move on. The sleek jewelry auctioneers wind up for the evening. And heavy tides of the theater traffic set in.

• • •

At night, doubtless, every block in crowded Broadway has its unseen drama and unheard tragedy. A man whose veracity is unquestioned tells of an incident in a small restaurant the other night. There were few customers. He sat dining alone in a wall booth. In the next booth a man and woman were seated. Finally he heard her say, throatily: "I've got something dreadful to tell you. The time has come for you to know—I'm a harlot."

New York shows little interest in wrestling matches. Few big championship contests are staged here. New Yorkers have a wrestling complex. They believe many matches are faked. Wrestling is said to be the easiest of sporting games for faking. Only the expert can distinguish the real article.

There is a story of one spectator so entranced by the twisting and grinding of wrestlers that he—like most spectators—went through the physical convolutions. He was so earnest in his work, however, that he actually sprung a Charley-horse sitting in his chair.

A story has been circulated around Broadway that several writers who syndicate articles have "ghosters"—that is men to write their stuff for them. One famous comic strip man does this, but it is not probable among writers. For the simple reason that should a writer be able to write and hold an audience, for another he could easily step out on his own and make a great deal more money than the average syndicate writer could pay. Writing, unhappily for the writer, is something that can not be successfully done by substitute.

Luigi Cherubini—Composer.

BY COZETTE DOUGLAS.

Italian by birth, Luigi Carlo Zenobio Salvatore Maria Cherubini's fame rests chiefly on the latter period of his career when his work was essentially French.

He was born in Florence on September 14, 1760, and at the age of six commenced his study of music. His father was the accompanist at the Pergola theater and it was from him that little Cherubini took his first lessons. At the age of nine he began the study of composition. Before he attained his sixteenth birthday he had composed a great deal of church music.

In 1777 he went to Bologna where for four years he studied under the famous Sarti. This master not only grounded him in the church music for which he had shown such ability, but also trained him in dramatic composition.

In 1786 Cherubini went to Paris, which thereafter became his home. Paris seemed to bring Cherubini his greatest fame as a composer. However, his extreme asceticism shows to a marked degree in his works, as they never seem to reach the heights, depriving his music of the glow of inspiration that fears nothing.

While he was director of the Italian opera in Paris, Cherubini was often at odds with Napoleon, who disliked opposition to his views in music as well as in other matters. He finally was forced to leave France and went to Vienna, where he met Beethoven who had a profound admiration for him. There is no doubt but that Cherubini's compositions helped Beethoven to develop the power of expression that he showed late in his second period.

Cherubini's influence on Berlioz, however, was not so beneficial. It is said that he did much to weaken Berlioz' artistic sense.

The latter period of Cherubini's life, may be called his "Religious Period" for during that time he composed some of the most wonderful church music since Palestrina's time. However, he still continued his dramatic compositions.

Who knows but what the burden of his long name may have had something to do with his disposition, for even in his finest works he falls short of a complete expression of his ideals. He was a really great artist whose love of ideals was spoiled by fear.

He died in Paris on March 15, 1842, but his influence is still felt even in these latter days of motley melody.

LOEB FLUNKS OUT ON LATIN COURSE

Child-Slayer Only Completed Five Lessons, It Is Revealed

New York, Nov. 4—Richard A. Loeb, the "intellectual murderer," has failed in his home study course he began in Latin while in the Illinois State Prison at Joliet from Columbia University, it was learned today.

Loeb, who is serving a life sentence with Nathan Leopold, Jr., for the brutal murder of 13-year-old Robert Franks, registered for the course in beginner's Latin under the Columbia home study department last January.

"How is Loeb progressing?" Leverett Tyson, director of the Columbia home study department, was asked today by International New Service.

"Loeb quit last March," said Tyson. "We haven't heard a word from him since. He only finished five of the lessons."

Both Loeb and Leopold were considered brilliant students in college before they were convicted of the Franks murder. They were taking post-graduate work at the University of Chicago at the time of the crime in May, 1924.

Loeb, in registering for the Columbia home study course, said that he had attended University High School in Chicago from 1917 to 1919, University of Chicago from 1919 to 1921, University of Michigan from 1921 to 1923 and had received his A.B. degree from the latter institution in 1923.

"There were 30 lessons in the course Loeb was taking," said Tyson. "If he had completed the course satisfactorily he would have received a certificate stating he had passed. Some students finish the course in four or five months."

Tyson said it is not unusual for men in prison to take the home study course, with the approval of the warden. The lessons were sent to Loeb in care of Deputy Warden William B. Barrowman of Joliet, he said.

"Did Loeb pay for the complete course?"

"Oh, yes," answered Tyson.

"Did you ever learn why he stopped?"

"He just quit."

PEP MEETINGS HELD AT HARDING HIGH

Junior-Senior and Sophomore Assemblies Are Conducted at School Building

Two football "pep" assemblies one of upper classmen and one for sophomores were held yesterday morning at Harding High School. George Stafford conducted the junior-senior meeting and Harold Waddell the sophomore assembly.

Features of the entertainment were a delightful concert by the Harding High School band, directed by William Guthery, student assistant to Howard M. Temple, music supervisor in local schools, "pep" talks by Jesse H. Mason, school superintendent and a devoted football fan, Dewey Bohyer, football coach, and members of the team. Members of the Hi-Y Club sponsored the assemblies and arranged the programs.

FORTY-SIX DEAD IN SHIP DISASTER TOLL

Nineteen Bodies Recovered and 22 Persons Reported Missing

Sidney, Australia, Nov. 4—Forty-six persons dead and injured was believed today to be the toll of the marine disaster here yesterday when the steamer Tahiti rammed and sank the ferryboat Greycliff carrying more than 130 passengers.

Nineteen bodies have been recovered and 22 persons were still missing.

That many aboard the Greycliff were trapped before having a chance to escape was revealed by divers who reported they saw many bodies in the cabins of the ferryboat which lies in 60 feet of water at the bottom of the harbor.

Many of the victims after being thrown into the water by the crash, were mangled by Tahiti's propellers.

The Tahiti, bound for San Francisco, hit the Greycliff squarely amidships, cutting it in two. Many of the ferry's passengers were children on their way to school.

THIS WOMAN FOUND RELIEF

After Long Suffering by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

In a little town of the Middle West, was a discouraged woman. For four months she had been in such poor health that she could not stoop to put on her own shoes. Unable to do her work, unable to go out of doors or enjoy a friendly chat with her neighbors, life seemed dark indeed to Mrs. Daugherty.

Then one day, a booklet was left at her front door. Idly she turned the pages. Soon she was reading with quickened interest. The little booklet was filled with letters from women in conditions similar to hers who had found better health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I began taking the Vegetable Compound," Mrs. Daugherty writes, "and after I took the third bottle, I found relief. I am on my eleventh bottle and I don't have that trouble any more, and feel like a different woman. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to everyone I see who has trouble like mine. I am willing to answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Ed. Daugherty, 1308 Orchard Ave., Muscatine, Iowa.

A TETE-A-TETE

I knew well that, in Dicky's [illegible] there was not the slightest [illegible] ad matting." Mary concerning [illegible] story which surrounded [illegible], which she evidently [illegible] to discuss with me. The [illegible] of Dicky's young niece, [illegible] her jealousy, had shared [illegible] for observation of the [illegible] Lorches, and the eager, [illegible] story which she just had [illegible] me that she had neglected [illegible] those opportunities.

[illegible] but one thing to do, and [illegible] to discuss the bizarre affair [illegible] with proper "grown-up" [illegible] hoped I was not sorry to [illegible] of her fresh, keen young [illegible] upon the mystery which was [illegible] me.

"[illegible] dear young cat," I said, smiling, and purposely emphasizing the coun. "I not only heard 'the Lincoln dame' when your uncle proposed sketching her with the wolfhound, but I saw her, and observed how the proposal affected her. I don't mind telling you that the young woman's actions are occupying a good share of my thoughts just now. I'm all at sea. I wish you'd tell me what you think of it all."

She flushed at my gibe, but answered it promptly.

"Oh, I'll own up," she said. "I am a cat, but she's a pig. She's trying to gobble up both Noel and that young Mr. Jackson. But I can be a little porker too, and I'm here to tell you she'd better watch her footsteps."

"As far as my observation went, you had the better of it in those directions tonight," I said.

"Yes," she acknowledged, with a little grin, "it wasn't so bad. But didn't you notice how just the second she noticed I was having a good mumble with George, she pulled her freight for home?"

There was mischief in her eyes and I guessed that she had used young Mr. Jackson's Christian name deliberately in the hope that I would put a horrified query as to her custom when talking with the young man. But I refused to be drawn by either that supposition or by her weird slang.

"Yes, I rather admired her adroitness," I told her, "but I can't say I enjoyed what you did to Noel. In your own jargon, I would advise you to watch your step, my dear. That boy is extremely sensitive, and there is a limit to his endurance."

"He's not such a tender, sensitive plant that he doesn't know how to stage a come-back," she said grimly. "Did you notice the moonlight-on-the-greensward he was putting over with the Lincoln this evening?"

"Oh, yes. I saw it."

"Well! then, don't waste any breath sympathizing with that lad. He knows his onions, also the rest of the salad. But he's a good egg, and after awhile, when he gets over his peeve, I'll make it up to him. Just now, he's only one idea in his head, and that is to show me that I'm not the only rose in the Colonial bouquet, that I'm not even the frilled paper around it. So I'm going to let him dream along that line for awhile. It'll keep him busy, and I'll have more time to find out which way the wheels are revolving inside Mr. George Logan Jackson's head. He sure puzzles me, that lad."—Copyright, 1927, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Sally's Shoulders

by BEATRICE BURTON, Author of "HER MAN," "HONEY LOU," "THE HOLLYWOOD GIRL," etc.

Read This First

SALLY JEROME, pretty and clever, is the mainstay of her family in the absence of her father, who does not live with her mother. MRS. JEROME enjoys poor health, so Sally does the housework mornings and office work for MR. PEEVEY down town afternoons. Her brother, BEAU, and sister, MILLIE, give little towards the support of the home, and the financial burden falls heavily upon Sally.

In the flat below the Jeromes lives TED SLOAN, who wants Sally to marry him and keep on working. But the only man who interests her is JOHN NYE, whose real estate office is across the hall from Mr. Peevy's. Nye hires Millie as his secretary and becomes blindly infatuated with her. Millie flirts with the notion of marrying him, but really prefers DAVIDSON, a bond salesman, whom she met in a former job.

Beau passes some bad checks, and "borrows" some money from the bank where he works. Sally gets the money to make good his theft from Mr. Peevey, who is retiring from business because of ill health. Beau and his bride, MABEL, having spent all their earnings for such luxuries as second-hand cars and fur coats, return home to live. They pay almost no board, and Sally is frantic.

Then Millie has an appendicitis operation, and John Nye pays for her room and nurse at the hospital. While she is there Sally does her work in Nye's office, and he offers her a permanent position. She refuses it, and goes into the restaurant business with her aunt, EMILY JEROME, who has turned her country home into a wayside inn. The business does not thrive and Sally spends most of her time at the inn, where she and Aunt Emily do all the work of cooking, serving, etc. Mrs. Jerome decides to bring the whole family there to live, and despite Aunt Em's protests, does so.

Aunt Em hires a jazz band and tries to compete with "The Lark," a nearby roadhouse. But business is no better. One Sunday afternoon John Nye drops in, and tells Sally that if she and her aunt go out of business he would like her to work for him again. Sally refuses, although business is bad. Ted Sloan suggests to her that she do some exhibition dancing as an attraction to draw the crowds.

Now Go On with the Story

CHAPTER XLV

LONG after the chugging sound of Ted's little roadster had died away in the distance, Sally stayed where she was, in the night-time stillness of Aunt Emily's garden.

Ted had left her with a promise to take her to "The Lark" on the next night to see the Spanish dancers who were drawing the crowds there.

But it was not of Ted she was thinking as she sat on the stone steps, with the dark, perfumed weight of the lilac branches above her and a white moon shining down through the lace-work of leaves.

It was the kind of May night when a woman is very likely to find herself thinking of the man she loves—or of the man she loved once upon a time—or of the man whom she is going to love but never yet has happened to meet.

And so Sally found herself thinking of John Nye, and of something he had said to her that afternoon when they stood together in Aunt Emily's reception room, with its old polished furniture, its dim silver mirrors, its Toby jugs and Bristol glass.

"You belong here—not in an office," was what he had said to her.

He did not look upon her, then, as a human adding machine or a piece of office furniture, after all, Sally reflected. He saw that she was a real flesh and blood girl—the kind that fitted in among mirrors and priceless old glass and bowls of blue and lavender lilacs. The thought was oddly warming and comforting to her.

"And he said he missed me, too," she went on thinking, as she rose and started up the steps.

But then, that was just because she had sharpened his pencils, and written his letters carefully, and brought him sandwiches when he was hungry. She had done the same things for Mr. Peevey, always. It was part of her job to do them—all but the sandwiches, of course.

• • •

She closed the hall door behind her and stepped into the house.

It was dark, for Aunt Emily went around these days switching off lights the minute they were not needed. She wasn't wasting a penny in this last effort to make a "go" of her dying business.

But in the reception room there was a small grate fire that sent out a sweet, smoky smell to mingle with the perfume of the lilacs.

Before the fire, leaning forward with her head sunk in her hands, sat Aunt Emily.

Sally went into the room and stood beside her.

"Going to bed, Aunt Em?" she asked.

Not a sound from Aunt Em.

It was not Aunt Em's way to cry when she was unhappy. She simply became very silent at such times, and kept to herself a great deal.

All day she had been moping in this way, and Sally knew that things must be going very, very badly with The House by the Side of the Road.

"What's the matter, Aunt Em?" she asked in a mater-of-fact voice, for Aunt Em hated to be pitied or petted or stroked when she needed pitying and petting and stroking. She was something of a chestnut burr, was Aunt Em.

"Oh, the business is going to the dogs!" she said now, and her voice was snappy. "We're losing about twice as much as we're making—and I don't know why. Our food couldn't be better, and the place is more comfortable than any other place I know. I should have stuck to school teaching, I reckon. The only thing I know how to do is to write letters on a blackboard with a piece of chalk." She was silent once more.

"Our place lacks pep!" said Sally, remembering the very words of Ted's sales talk. "We need something different—something like these Spanish dancers that The Lark has—"

"Spanish dancers!" snapped Aunt Em in disgust. "Where would we find any Spanish dancers, I'd like to know. And how could we afford them if we could find them? I'm about flat broke, Sally Ann, as it is."

It was at that exact second that Sally made an all-important decision.

In the darkness her big blue eyes lighted up and the sparkle of high adventure shone in her face suddenly.

"I'll do it!" she said to herself. "It probably won't come to anything—but I'll try it, anyway!"

She spoke aloud to Aunt Emily, with a friendly hand on her shoulder. "Come on, upstairs, Aunt Em, I've a grand idea, but I won't tell you about it just yet!"

"I'm afraid of grand ideas," answered Aunt Em in the tones of Gloomy Gus. "My grandest idea was to open this restaurant and see what a flat failure I've made of it.

Sally followed slowly, looking over her shoulder at her reflection in the big mirror on the east wall of the hallway.

As she looked she began to move her shoulders in the most graceful, delicate way possible—a beautiful movement when done properly and modestly, as Sally did it. The movement that is vulgarly known all over the world as "the shimmy!"

And as she did it, she winked solemnly at herself in the glass.

She had a large mirror propped against a mound of lace-covered pillows in front of her, and she was brushing her golden hair.

"How would you like me with my hair this way?" she asked, twisting it into a flat, shining coil at the nape of her neck. "Don't you think it's nice?"

"Very," answered Sally. "What did you want to talk to me about, Millie?"

Millie made eyes at herself in the glass.

She smiled in a dreamy way. "Oh, I wanted to ask you about John Nye," she murmured.

Then she laughed and looked up at her sister. "Wasn't that funny—his coming out here today, and pretending that he wanted to see you?" she added. "As if I couldn't see through the whole thing!"

"What do you mean?" Sally asked stiffly.

If Millie had been looking at her she would have seen the flush that spread slowly over her face and neck.

But Millie was studying the mirror once more with entranced eyes.

"Why, you knew why he came here, didn't you?" she asked, and then went on to explain. "He came here to see if I was home—and he didn't want to admit it! You see, he's jealous of Davy Davidson, and so lately he's been pretending that he's lost all interest in me. Davy came up to the office to take me out once or twice. . . . I told him not to, but he came anyway. And Johnny's been going around like a bear with a sore head ever since.

• • •

Her smile deepened. Sally could see that she was proud of the fact that two men were in love with her—and that one of them was wildly jealous of the other.

"I see," said Sally, spitefully. "You mean that he didn't really come here to see me today. You mean that he didn't want me to come back to work for him at all. That he just made that an excuse for coming to see you. . . . Is that it?"

Millie nodded her shinning head. "Sure pop," she replied musically. "He knows you're tied up here for keeps. He doesn't want you to work for him. He's got me and Miss Kress. How could he keep a third girl busy? Figure it out for yourself."

Sally did.

• • •

She figured it out, lying alone in the darkness of her own room, an hour later. It took her all that time to make up her mind that Millie was right—and that John Nye had really come there that day to see her.

"But I wish he had pretended that it was me that he wanted to talk to," thought Sally with bitterness in her heart. "I'd have liked him better if he'd come straight out and said he wanted to see Millie, instead of pretending that he had a job for me. He's always seemed to be so honest."

She thought of him—of the way he looked with his straight lips, his deep, direct eyes, and his quick, frank way of saying what he meant. It was hard to think of John Nye as being anything but honest.

• • •

On the next night, which was Monday, Sally went with Ted Sloan to see the tango dancers at "The Lark." And, just as Ted had said, they weren't so wonderful.

On Tuesday morning Sally drove to town in Aunt Emily's little car and returned at noon with several small packages that she carried straight to her own room.

On Tuesday afternoon at dusk Mrs. Jerome opened the door of it and came in.

"I wonder if you would make me a cup of coffee, Sally," she began, and then stopped talking and made a queer little clucking sound in her throat.

Sally was sitting on the edge of the bed, winding a long yellow satin ribbon around one of her slender legs. And upon the ribbon dozens and dozens of tiny gilt bells were sewed. They tinkled merrily as the ribbon moved under Sally's slender little fingers.

"Whatever tomfollery are you up to now?" asked Mrs. Jerome, mystified.

Sally gave a wild giggle. "I'm about to become 'Bella, the belle of the ballroom dancers'," she said, looking up at her mother from under her thick, upcurling lashes. Her face was adorable with mischief and laughter.

A light slowly dawned in Mrs. Jerome's heavy, pale face.

"You're never going to dance for those hoodlums that come here to eat?" she gasped, plainly horrified.

"Hoodlums?" asked Sally. "I want you to know that our guests are not hoodlums, Mother. Aunt Em and I haven't had a crowd yet, but the people that we HAVE had have been the very nicest kind of people. . . . Now we're out for the crowds! The more the merrier—"

"I asked you if you were going to dance downstairs for those people!" repeated Mrs. Jerome with a terrible look.

Sally nodded, tossing her hair back from a satin forehead. "I certainly am!" she said. "And so's Ted Sloan! We're going to do it every night for a while, and see what happens!"

"You're no daughter of mine!" her mother said, after a long and awful pause. "You're just like your father and your Aunt Em. Wild as a goat!"

Her face crumpled up as if she were going to cry. But Sally steeled her heart against that pathetic look . . . She was going through with this thing! She hated it, but she was going to go through with it! Right to the end, whatever that end might be. It was the only thing to be done, and she was going to do it, by Jiminy Jinks!

To Be Continued.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

Today was Friday and it is now over with. Jubilee was waiting for me when I got out of school, and the men were there putting in the winter coal, and Mush's wife was there primping around and watching everyone, because she remembered when the Last Rag of Tripe had moved the coal about around and stuck it through her bedroom window and the coal men had slid a ton of coal in on her bed.

While we were standing watching, Feeble came up back of Peanuts and put her hands over his eyes and made him guess who it was, and he guessed a lot of times, and finely when he gave up and she took her hands away we saw that she had been rubbing them in the coal about and his face was a sight. The bonehead was so tickled because she had picked him out to play with that he just stood and grinned and scratched one ankle with the other foot, and everybody boorawed him, and he thought it was because he was popular with Feeble.

Then I asted him if he wanted to see a munky, and I led him over to a basement window and it was so dark on the other side of it that it was like a looking glass, and he stood and looked at himself like he was paralyzed.

Then Nibs came up behind him and gave the back of his head a push that broke the window with his face, and he turned around and paisted Nibs and they clinched and were rolling over and over each other when Mush's wife got there. She put her hands on her hips and looked at the busted window, and then she made a dive to grab them by the collars, and each one thought it was the other one getting a new hold on his, and they began to roll and fight harder than ever, and the air was full of her feet and stockings and their feet and legs and we were standing around having a good time, till all at once I thought it was raining, and I looked up, and it was Feeble turning the hose on all of us, and when we scattered she turned it on Nibs and Peanuts and the janitor's wife, and we all skun out.

When I had got the dummed brutes milked and was eating my supper here came Peanuts and his father and mother, and they looked like they were going to hang someone, and my father said, "Howdy," and Peanuts father said, "We have come to complain of your son." I started to say something, but my father held up his hand and glared at me, and then they told how Peanuts looked when he came from school and that they knew it was me because I am the ringleader. I asted them if Peanuts said it was me and they had to say no, but they just knew I was. I got sent to bed but not licked.

A Doctor Talks About Cascara

It is unfortunate that many people judge the thoroughness of a laxative by its violence. The salts that rush through the system may not even penetrate the film of poisonous matter that has coated the colon. A long list of drugs will "loosen the bowels" but what is the best way to CLEANSE them?

The world's best laxative is one that Mother Nature makes in her own laboratory. It is the bark of a tree, called CASCARA. The Indians used to chew this bark—and reach old age without a sick day. It is the best thing there is today, for any system; best for the blood. The most beneficial in its action on the bowels, of anything yet disclosed. For many reasons:

First of all, there is NO HABIT formed from cascara. The bowels are not weakened, but strengthened by its occasional use. The occasions when one needs this aid grow less and less. Its influence is long felt. You don't find yourself worse bound-up the day following. You do find the bowels more inclined to move of their own volition. The candy cascaret that every drug-store always has in stock is the ideal form of cascara.

Cold, Penniless and Weary, Man and Wife With Tiny Baby Held as City's Guests

Cold and penniless and carrying a tiny baby, a man and woman giving their names as Mr. and Mrs. George Schrives and who were attempting to "thumb" their way from Benton Harbor, Mich., to their home in Staten Island, N. Y., were taken in charge by Relief Commissioner Charles M. Tobin and James H. Eymon, attorney for the humane society, yesterday afternoon and placed in the Marion County Home pending the raising of money with which to send the woman and child to their home in New York.

The couple were brought to this city from Kenton late yesterday morning by a traveling salesman who bought the family breakfast in that city. Arriving here the family was let out at Harding Hotel. The appearance aroused the sympathies of Mrs. D. V. Gallagher and Miss Catherine C. Schroeter at the Marion Auto Club headquarters and they were invited into the office where they told the story of attempting to "thumb" their way from Benton Harbor to Staten Island.

Woman Objects

Relief Commissioner Tobin was notified and over the protests of the woman, arranged with Attorney Eymon, of the humane society for the removal of the family to the county home. Steps were then taken by the commissioner to obtain money with which to pay the mother's fare to her home.

The woman objected strongly to going to the home, saying she wanted to walk and it was necessary to threaten her with arrest before she would consent to being cared for until money could be obtained to pay her railroad fare. The man, however, was willing to go to the county home, saying that if they could get enough money to pay his wife's way, he would be satisfied.

The baby, a four month old boy, appeared to be none the worse for the unusual mode of traveling. He enjoyed his bottle of milk, furnished by the women in the Auto Club office, with as much gusto as if living in the most pleasant home and smiled and gurgled his thanks.

The man, who is 22 years of age, told the relief commissioner that he had been working in Benton Harbor where he has a brother, but he was laid off and, having no money, they decided to "thumb" their way to Staten Island where he said his wife had an uncle. The woman objected strongly, however, to having her uncle notified of their plight.

GURLEY COMMUNITY CLUB MEMBERS ENTERTAINED

Agosta, Nov. 4—The Gurley Community Club was entertained at a Hallowe'en party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Fritz, 2½ miles east of Agosta. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Those present were: Mrs. James Sessler, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Longacre and children, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Boblenz, Mrs. Fred Secrist and daughter Mary, Mrs. Stanton Busler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Drake, Mrs. Oliver Rollin, Mrs. William Rush, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rush, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kenzon, Miss Lucille Kenyon, and Mr. Robert Rush.

DISCUSS SPORTS

Interesting Program Features LaRue Club Meeting

LaRue, Nov. 4—The Twentieth Century Club met at the home of Mrs. C. T. Guthery, south of town, Tuesday afternoon. A "sports day" program was enjoyed. The responses were "Famous Sportsmen." A talk on athletics was given by Mrs. E. D. Maurice. The different sports were discussed as follows: football, Mrs. F. L. Topliff; baseball, Mrs. E. H. Lingo; racing, Mrs. N. Sifritt. A reading was given by Mrs. I. S. Guthery. Current events by the club concluded the program. The hostess assisted by her mother, Mrs. Emma Morris, served refreshments. The meeting adjourned to meet Tuesday, Nov. 15, at the home of Mrs. W. H. Raub.

TIRE PRICES CUT FROM FIVE TO 10 PER CENT

A reduction in both Firestone and U. S. tires, the second in the past two months, was reported today by C. W. Browne, W. Church-st tire man. A reduction of five per cent on size 75 and and a 10 per cent on all others, was reported in U S. tires while the reduction in Forestones is given as 20 per cent.

Tube prices on Firestones remain unchanged. The changes in Firestones is attributed to a revision and not to a general price cut, by Firestone officials.

LA RUE SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASSES HOLD PARTY

LaRue, Nov. 4—The adult classes of the Bantist Sunday School held a masquerade party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Knittin, Wednesday night. The costume prizes were as follows: Comic costume for adults, J. W. Freshour; prettiest costume for adults, Mrs. E. D. Maurice; comic costume for children, Mabel Miller; prettiest costume for children, Bill Maurice.

Contests and games were played, different prizes being won by Beulah Freshour, Mrs. John Zeis, Mr. J. Crook and Mrs. Percy Gauchel. Refreshments of sandwiches, jack-o-lantern salad, pumpkin pie, cider, and coffee were served by the hostess.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—Adv.

...ector S. Young Notifies Court ...Dishwashing Machine Company Receivership Ended

...r S. Young, receiver for the ...Dishwashing Machine Co., ... which suspended operations about five ... ago after being in business only ... years, has filed his second and final account in the court of common pleas this morning. He states that settlement of the company's affairs has been completed and asks that he be discharged by the court.

Creditors of the company will be paid approximately 25 per cent of their accounts, it is estimated. The receivership resulted from a suit brought by H. A. McKinnon and Walter E. Hane, who were officials of the company. The business, during its brief period of operations, was located in a plant in the plant later occupied by the Studebaker-Wulff Rubber Co.

Jury Has Case

After a hearing lasting the greater part of two days, the suit of Thomas Miller against Harry Williams, executor of the estate of Mattie Miller, went to the jury in the court of common pleas this afternoon.

Taking of testimony, in which the plaintiff sought to show that Mattie Miller, his wife, was of unsound mind when she made out her will, occupied the entire court session yesterday and continued until shortly before noon today.

Testimony in regard to Mrs. Miller's mental condition was conflicting, witnesses placed on the stand by the defendant testifying that she was apparently of sound mind at the time she made her will. Mrs. Miller who resided on Olney-av, signed the will in August, 1926, and died several months later.

The will was admitted to probate and Thomas Miller, the husband, filed suit to have the instrument declared invalid.

Because of the Miller case requiring more time than had been expected, hearing of the suit of A. C. Shuff & Co. against the Marion Hay, Grain & Supply Co., scheduled for today, has been postponed. Shuff & Co., a Louisville concern, is suing for $69 claimed to be due as a refund on a shipment of hay made by the Marion company.

Answer Filed

Leo K. Wolf, one of the defendants in the suit of the Prospect Citizens Bank against Edward Moloney and others filed his answer today, denying all allegations and asking that the petition be dismissed. The bank asks for sale of property belonging to the partnership of Moloney & Wolf to pay a judgment of $486.26 obtained against Moloney.

AFTER a lapse of 14 years, Miss Estelle Gilbert, 29, has renewed her quest for education at Harding High School, enrolling this year as a sophomore. She is Harding's oldest student this year, and one of, if not the oldest, students ever enrolled there, at least for the first-year work.

Miss Gilbert decided to return to school when entrance in the nurses' training course of the Glenville Hospital, Cleveland, made such a step necessary. She is taking part junior and part sophomore work but is enrolled as a sophomore. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Gilbert, 571 Bellefontaine-av.

OFTEN it is necessary for the average citizens to be deprived of some of the advantages and conveniences of modern life in order to appreciate how well they are provided for.

Residents of several streets in the south section of the city had such an experience one night last week when there was a temporary suspension of electrical service resulting from a service line becoming disconnected.

Probably 50 homes were cast into complete darkness and for about two hours it was necessary to provide illumination with candles, oil lamps, gas and other lighting equipment which had been discarded years ago.

Not a few of the homes, all of which are in the class designated as "modern throughout," were devoid of emergency lighting and facilities and neighborhood stores were kept busy for a time filling orders for candles, kerosene and gas mantels.

Aside from a few bruised shins and agitated tempers resulting from efforts of the more daring to explore unlighted rooms and hallways, there were no casualties.

AS the green light opened the way fr Main-st traffic at the close of lunch hour, Center-st travel rubbed its eyes and gapped as the following rolled regally by in a Ford coupe with an improvised rumble seat one male driver, 20; one female in front seat, 19; another female in front, 22; one male in back 63; one female in back, (beyond limit); on left running board one suitcase, one comforter, one stove, one cart, one crock; on right running ditto with left running board, also several articles too numerous to mention, including one side-delivery hayrake, one electric washing machine, and small tools.

Any collegiate attempts to outshine this example could only be lost effort. It was the world's worst and best.

PYTHIANS COMPLETE PLANS FOR MEETING

"Booster" Session To Promote Activities of Order In County Is Arranged

Final arrangements for the county Knights of Pythias "booster" meeting planned as the opening of a campaign to promote activities of the order in Marion County and vicinity were completed today.

The meeting expected to be one of the largest Pythian gatherings in the history of the county, will take place at LaRue on Dec. 6. The principal address will be given by Frederick S. Atwood of Minneapolis, grand lodge prelate, who is known to members of the order throughout the country as the "blind orator of Pythianism."

Plans for holding the meeting in LaRue were made there last night at a session of Walter Scott Lodge, No. 214. J. M. Justice, William McCurdy and H. H. O'Dowd of this city were present as representatives of Marion Company, No. 15, Uniform Rank, the organization which has been active in promoting the county event.

Another committee from the Uniform Rank, headed by E. J. Schweinfurth and S. L. McIntyre, visited Durward Lodge No. 153, at Prospect, last night and announced plans for the county gathering.

In addition to all Marion County lodges, it is expected that Pythian organizations in neighboring counties will be represented at the meeting.

The Marion County event is a part of a general program being carried on by Pythian lodges throughout the country to promote growth and activity of the order.

Dr. C. W. Jacoby, Knights of Pythias deputy in Marion county, will preside at the meeting in LaRue.

Hemorrhoids Go

Piles Disappear Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands who have piles have not learned what quick and permanent relief can be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is stagnation of blood circulation in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt found the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in hundreds of cases with a marvelous record of success, such a wonderful record that HEM-ROID is now sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from Henney & Cooper today. It has given quick and lasting relief to thousands and should do the same for you or money back.—Adv.

tioning chiropractic. The proposal is strongly opposed by the Ohio Medical Association.

The sewer proposal provides for an expenditure of approximately $800,000 for enlargement of Marion's drainage system. Should it be approved by the voters, an annual tax levy estimated at 1.048 mills would be assessed for a period of 25 years to pay off the $800,000 and interest.

The courthouse remodeling project, to be submitted to all voters of the county, is estimated to cost $80,000. An annual tax levy of .006, running 25 years, would be required to pay off the bonds issued for this improvement.

Ten Seek Reelection

With the city administration now in complete control of the Republicans, 10 of that party's 14 candidates for municipal office are up for reelection. Only one Democrat, Thomas J. Mead, second ward councilman, is now holding office. He is a candidate for another term.

A complete list of the nominees for municipal offices follows:

Mayor: Earl M. Hazen, Republican, 637 Oak-st; now serving his first term; formerly employed as a mechanic by the Marion Steam Shovel Co. William H. Hoberman, Democrat, 347 N. Main-st; salesman employed by Amicon Bros., local wholesale concern; former drug store proprietor.

President of council: Emery M. Murphy, Republican, 899 Barks-av; assistant superintendent of Marion Steam Shovel Co.; now serving first term in office. F. T. Campbell, Democrat, 401 S. Vine-st; real estate dealer; former postmaster and cashier of West Side Banking Co.

Seeks Fifth Term

City Auditor: J. L. Landes, Republican, 251 Oak-st; present city auditor and running for fifth term. A. E. Spicer, Democrat, 273 Uncapher-av; accountant at Marion Steam Shovel Co.

City treasurer: Russell C. Snare, Republican, 491 Wilson-av; assistant cashier at Marion County Bank. Ralph E. Grubaugh, Democrat, 269 Uhler-av, assistant cashier at Marion Savings Bank.

City solicitor: George T. Geran, Republican, 551 S. Vine-st; attorney; now serving first term as solicitor by appointment; Fred H. Zuck, Democrat, 373 Windsor-st; attorney; member of firm of Jacoby & Zuck.

Council-at-large, three to be elected: Ralph Good, Republican, 270 W. Columbia-st, grocer; A. H. Williams, Republican, 511 Olney-av, Marion Steam Shovel Co. employe; R. E. Prettyman, Republican, 195 Orchard-st, insurance agency manager; Joseph Voll, Democrat, 327 Lafayette-st, tailor; E. J. Salter, Democrat, 285 Marion-av, express company manager; and J. E. Sexton, Democrat, 211 E. George-st, carpenter and contractor. The three Republican candidates are members of the present council and are seeking reelection.

Ward Councilmen

First Ward councilman: J. A. Wilkins, Republican, 393 E. George-st; silk mills foreman; now serving first term in council. Irvin Prettyman, Democrat, 602 E. George-st; real estate broker.

Second Ward councilman: Don B. Clarke, Republican, 416 Thompson-st; painter and decorator, Thomas J. Mead Democrat, 395 Lee-ts; well-driller; present members of council, being the only Democrat connected with the present city administration.

Third Ward councilman: John L. Owens, Republican, 181 Sharp-st; Marion Steam Shovel Co. employe; member of present council. J. A. Hiller, Democrat, 505 Davids-st; Marion Steam Shovel Co. employe.

Fourth Ward councilman: Grant Huldeman, Republican, 368 Girard-av foreman, Marion Steam Shovel Co. Charles L. Miller, Democrat, 314 Windsor-st; bakery proprietor.

Fifth Ward councilman: Charles Schmidt, Republican, 206 St. James-st; pharmacist; member of present council. J. M. Schneider, Democrat, 334 S. State-st; building and loan association official.

Seek Reelection

Sixth Ward councilman: L. E. Starr, Republican, 354 Lafayette-st; employe of Van Atta Hardware Co. W. C. Stafford, Democrat, 331 Summit-st; building contractor.

There is no contest in election of city board of education members. Three are to be elected and the candidates are Frank J. Gegenheimer, Hector S. Young and Mrs. Minnie King, present members of the board.

Two members of the county board of education are to be elected. There are three candidates, S. W. Almendinger, Waldo Twp and J. B. Conley, Marion Twp, members of the present board, and Elmer E. Beers, Scott Twp. Only voters outside the city of Marion will have a part in election of the county board members.

Simple Home Recipe For Bad Stomach Gives Swift Relief

If you are a victim of Stomach Troubles—Gas, Sourness, Pain or Bloating—you may have quick and certain relief by following this good advice.

Artificial digestants and starvation diets are seldom needed. Within reason, most folks may eat what they like, if they will keep their stomach free from souring acids that hinder or paralyze the work of digestion. And the best and easiest way to do this is to follow every meal with a little Bisurated Magnesia—a pleasant, harmless form of Magnesia that swiftly neutralizes acidity and keeps your stomach sweet and clean.

A few days' trial of Bisurated Magnesia (powder or tablets), which any good druggist can supply at trifling cost, should quickly convince you that fully 90% of ordinary stomach distress is absolutely unnecessary. Try Bisurated Magnesia today!—Adv.

VOCATIONAL LEADERS WILL AID FARMERS

Agricultural Teachers in County Schools To Test Soils for Lime Contents

Farmers who are in doubt as to the lime and fertilizer requirement of their soil are urged to take samples to the various vocational agricultural centers in the county on Nov. 8, 9 and 10. Members of the department of soils of the Ohio State University Agricultural College will be present on those dates at the vocational departments of the county schools to conduct the tests, according to L. B. Fidler, Smithville area instructor at Waldo.

The Waldo department, according to Mr. Fidler will be open on the afternoon of Nov. 8.

Soil samples should be taken at plow depth from several places in the field according to Mr. Fidler. The various samples should then be mixed, avoiding the mixture of light and dark soils, and thoroughly dried. Each farmer is entitled to present two samples to the testers. According to Mr. Fidler further information may be obtained from the vocational teacher in the various communities of the county.

The monthly meeting of Marion County vocational teachers was held last night at the office of County Supt. C. B. Rayburn. The six departments in the county will co-operate with the granges of the county in putting on programs as a result of action taken at the meeting. Plans were made for a county agricultural short course student's volley ball league.

A report was given at the meeting on progress made in arranging for a county circuit of educational stereopticon slide lectures. Plans for the circuit have been completed, according to the report and the lectures will start Jan. 15.

Final plans for the "scrub bull" trial which is to be held at the art hall on the Marion County fairground were completed.

TAKE SALTS FOR A KIDNEY BACKACHE

Drink Lots of Water All Day Long to Keep Kidneys Flushed

Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like you relieve the bowels, removing acids, waste and poison, else you may feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging one to get up two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste, begin drinking water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders.

By all means, drink lots of good water every day.—Adv.

-o- The New Book -o-

BY FRANCES JENNINGS

A colorful, thrilling native tale dealing with the life of a Catholic missionary in New Mexico in the early days is "Death Comes for the Archbishop," the most recent book of Willa Cather, author of "The Song of the Lark" and "My Antonia," a novel of totally different character, popular more than ever today.

It is primarily an historical biography but written with an artistry which makes the characters seem real, as though they might have lived today, thereby increasing the reader's interest in the story and his sympathy for the characters as well as his innate curiosity about the spread of religious doctrines in this country.

The story takes place in New Mexico when it was under the United States flag but still much foreign territory and the country was occupied in extensive parts by those comparatively primitive lands. A knowledge of Christianity was in this region that Father Jean Latour, as a young man, began his missionary labors, his years of ministering to an unreceptive class of people, content in their own primitive forms of worship of idols and ancient rites.

Devote Young Priest

Miss Cather pictures him at his devotions in few words as a devout young priest, whose "bowed head was not that of an ordinary man; it was built for the seat of a fine intelligence. His brow was open, generous, reflective, his features handsome and somewhat severe. Everything in his appearance showed him to be a man of gentle birth, keen, sensitive, courteous."

• • •

With his friend, Father Joseph whose ambitions for extending the knowledge and work of the church, are quite as fervent as Latour's own he spends his life traveling through the hot sun with only the most primitive modes of transportation performing the rites of the Church, baptism, marriage, burial of the dead, and distributing a seed of the faith in the parishes under his control until, with old age upon him, the old archbishop died as he had lived, quietly, his tasks completed, at peace with the world, in the love of God and the people to whom it has been his duty to carry the gospel to perform the offices of the church.

One looks for exciting moments, even the suspicion of a plot in vain, for the book is through and through a biography but told with that imagination which lends the story life, gives it the human touch making it not only readable, but enticing. It is indeed a refreshing break from the modern novel with its inevitable blare and throb of pulsating modern life.

"BEST SHORT STORIES OF 1927" ISSUED

SHORT stories are again coming into their own with the American reading Public, several volumes of the same being offered on the fall reading lists. Foremosts in the collection of short stories for the year is "The Best Short Stories of 1927", by Edward J. O'Brien, recently published. Included on the list of distinguished authors whose stories appear in the book are Dorothy Canfield, Sherwood Anderson, Hamlin Struthers Burt, Irvin S. Cobb, Zona Gale, Helen Fitzgerald, Ernest Hemingway, Joseph Hergesheimer, Booth Tarkington, Elsie Singmaster, Ernest Poole, Lyle Saxon, Sophia Kerr, N. D. Marbaker and other popular writers.

Two other delightful books of short stories, new this winter, are Ernest Hemingway's "Men Without Women," and "Yellow Gentians and Blue," the collection of 10 short stories by Miss Zona Gale of which considerable mention has already been made. Hemingway is the author of "The Sun Also Rises," the risque novel which caused so much comment in the spring, and Miss Gale of "Preface to a Life," "Miss Lulu Bett" and other novels.

SETTLEMENT OF TAX CLAIM IS DISCUSSED

State Commission Holds Conference with Marion County Officials

Settlement of a delinquent tax claim of approximately $200 standing against the Beech Telephone Co., which formerly operated in the eastern rural section of Marion County, was discussed by members of the state tax commission yesterday, with H. Alfred Donithen, local attorney, John Pommert, former head of the company, and County Auditor Earl E. Thomas.

The company was dissolved about five years ago and its property is now operated by another concern. Adjustment of the tax claim is necessary in order to establish a clear title to the property.

Final action on the claim will probably be taken next week, it was reported following conference with the state commission.

The can which contained only a small amount of gasoline, exploded, scattering the burning fluid over the side of the garage but fortunately missing the boys. Neighbors called the fire department and the blaze was extinguished with a small loss by firemen from No. 2 station.

Shortly before 5 o'clock the departments from the central and No. 2 stations responded to a call at the home of Frank Little, 306 Nunin-ct, where sparks from a chimney had set fire to the roof. The blaze was extinguished with chemicals with a small loss.

TWO MEN ARE FINED ON INTOXICATION CHARGES

George Shumaker, of Columbus, and Samuel Harris, of Toledo, each paid fines of $10 and costs in municipal court this morning when they pleaded guilty to charges of intoxication before Municipal Judge William R. Martin. The two were arrested by Sheriff James S. Deal on the Green Camp-pk yesterday afternoon after farmers living in the vicinity had complained of their actions.

The men had parked their car along the road and were indulging in a liquor party, Sheriff Deal said.

At present used for storing fodder at Oxford, Surrey, a barn dating from the fourteenth century, and rich with black oak, is to be moved to North Sheen for use as a church.

MARION RESIDENTS APPEAR AT MT. GILEAD

Rev. S. S. Hardy Addresses Kiwanis Club; Ernst Carl Gives Solos

Mt. Gilead, Nov. 4—Kiwanians were entertained yesterday in their weekly luncheon in the Moreen Room of the Globe Hotel by Marion talent. The program included several solos by Ernst Carl, conductor of Marion's Canto Club, which entertained Mt. Gilead music lovers some time ago. He was accompanied by Miss Grace Cooper, organist at the St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

The speaker was Rev. S. S. Hardy, rector of the St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Marion.

He reminded Kiwanians of the fact that Armistice Day is but a short distance in the future and went into some discussion of Armistice Day.

He then questioned the value of war and quoted many men, such as Napoleon, who is said to have made the statement that war never brought about any permanent beneficial results. He stated that the only thing we had to show for the World War was the loss of millions of lives of soldiers, the making of thousands of orphans and widows, and expenditures of billions of dollars.

RALPH BENDER WINS DECLAMATION HONORS

A Message to Mothers

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

GAVE BABY STRENGTH—PREVENTED COLDS.

MRS. W. R. HUGHES, 652 East Grand Ave., Decatur, Ill., in a recent signed statement issues this message, which all mothers should heed: "We have a little son aged 20 months. His first winter I gave him Father John's Medicine every night at bedtime. He did not have a cold all winter. We did not keep him in, but when I took him out I gave him Father John's Medicine. In April he had whooping cough and we gave him Father John's all through the time. This picture was taken at the worst stage of the sickness. We are giving it again this winter, and, as before, he has no cold. I wish every mother would use it for it seems so unnecessary for little folks to be always sick."

CONSTRUCTION WORK SHOWING PROGRESS

Interior Refinishing of Mt. Gilead National Bank Is Nearing Completion

Mt. Gilead, Nov. 4—Work on two of Mt. Gilead's prominent buildings, one under repair, the other under construction, which has been under way for some time, is now bringing one near completion, while the other shows rapid progress.

The Mt. Gilead National Bank, which is adding another room to its building and completely refinishing the interior, is now receiving the finishing touches under the hands of E. Elford & Son, contractors, of Columbus. All the marble used in the former building has been torn out and preparations made for installing new. A new large vault containing safety deposit boxes, has been installed.

The new Ford garage being constructed on W. High-st by Day Stauffer, local agent, is now taking the shape of a building. The garage will have two floors, and will be made entirely of brick. Much time has been required to dig a basement and lay the foundations, and as yet, the walls are raising slowly. An attractive show room to face the two bordering streets, W. High, and S. Cherry, has been planned.

GREEN CAMP PUPILS HOLD ANNUAL PARTY

School Gymnasium Is Scene of Hallowe'en Masquerade Affair

Green Camp, Nov. 4—The annual mask party of the Green Camp High School was held in the school gymnasium Saturday night with high school pupils and faculty present. Decorations were in keeping wit the Hallowe'en season.

With Miss Lena Schaber at the piano, a grand parade followed an hour of merriment, honors for the best masked person going to Miss Ethel Matthews and the funniest masked to Earl Furniss. The seniors, freshmen, juniors and teachers each presented stunts, with honors for the best going to the teachers. Misses Dorothy Boxwell and Gladys Bricker played an instrumental number, Melvin Smith gave a reading and Miss Mabel Patterson entertained with a ghost story. George Reynolds sang a solo. The freshman class was initiated as a closing feature. Sandwiches, pumpkin pie, doughnuts and sweet cider were served.

DOG CATCHER'S PAY TOO SMALL, MEN SAY

Five Applicants for Crawford County Job Refuse Appointment

Bucyrus, Nov. 4—Due to the meager salary of the Crawford County dog catcher, five applicants for the job within the past two weeks, have refused to accept the position, when their verbal applications were considered with favor by the county commissioners.

The applicants refused the position because "there is nothing in it." The canine catcher's pay is taken out of the money taken in for dog tags and at this time of the year, no tags are being sold. The catcher's pay is limited to seven-tenths of 50 per cent of the tag money and calls for the use of his own car and payment of all expenses attached to the job. Under average conditions the salary is about 1,500 per year.

Under terms of the law, the county commissioners will appoint a dog warden the first of the year, but until that time, nothing can be done because of the lack of means to compensate the person appointed.

RICHWOOD HIGH TEAM LOSES TO LONDON 11

Game Filled with Thrills and Excitement Ends with Score 19-15

Richwood, Nov. 4—Playing before the largest crowd of the season, the Richwood High School football team went down to defeat at the hands of the strong London High squad, 19 to 15, here yesterday afternoon.

The game was filled with excitement from start to finish, neither team having the game won until the final gun cracked.

Richwood kicked off to London and on the third play had scored a safety on the bewildered L. H. S. team, the charging of the locals being so fast that it caused fumbles three consecutive times.

After an exchange of punts L. H. S. with a series of line plays advanced the ball 25 yards and then completed a 30 yard pass, placing the ball on the eight yard line, from where it was pushed over for a touchdown as the quarter ended. Score, L. H. S. 6, R. H. S. 2.

Cramer returned the kick-off 40 yards as the quarter opened. After he had netted 14 yards on two more plays, London intercepted a pass and was held for four downs with two yards gain. They then punted to Cramer who was downed in his tracks. Cramer again took the ball and ran 65 yards through the entire London team to the one yard line. London held for two downs and on the next play Cushman sneaked over for Richwood's score. Richwood kicked to London as the half ended. Score, R. H. S. 8, L. H. S. 6.

Shortly after the half opened, London scored another touchdown annd extra point by a strong aerial attack. After this neither team could advance the ball to any advantage. Score, L. H. S. 13, R. H. S. 8.

Richwood in the fourth quarter took the ball in mid-field and with probably the greatest line plunging attack ever witnessed on the local field, led by Bristley, took the ball to the 12 yard line from where Cramer went across placing Richwood on the long end of a 15-13 count. London then received the kick-off and by a series of end runs scored another touchdown ending the scoring, the game ending, 19-15.

HOLD DISCUSSIONS ON STATE MEASURES

Large Crowd Attends Meeting in Richwood High School Auditorium

Richwood, Nov. 4—The two important bills, which are to feature in the coming election were the subject of a friendly debate, which was held at the Richwood High School auditorium last night, before a large assembly of those politically interested. Mrs. F. A. McAllister, president of the Carpe Diem Club acted as chairman, as the meeting was sponsored by that club.

After two numbers by the High School Orchestra, Mrs. Miltendorf, superintendent of the Women's Reformatory of Marysville, gave an interesting talk in favor of the Marshall bill, she was followed by LeRoy Allen, well known attorney of Richwood, who gave arguments against it.

The chiropratic bill was the subject of the final discussion, with Dr. Strand, prominent chiropractor of Youngstown, who talked for the proposed bill, while Rev. McCoy of Marysville presented the negative of the argument.

MARYSVILLE EUCHRE TEAM DEFEATED IN "RUB" TILT

Marysville, Nov. 4—The Marysville Euchre team was defeated by the Plain City euchre players by 117 points in a euchre contest held at the Oakland hotel, here, Wednesday night. Preceding the contest, a chicken supper was served which was paid for by the losers. The final score was 1591 for Plain City and 1533 points for Marysville. Plain City had 76 lone hands to 61 held by the Marysville players. The game was the rub of a series played by the two teams.

TEACHERS ATTENDING CLEVELAND MEETING

Galion, Nov. 4—Teachers of Galion's public schools are attending the convention in Cleveland today and as a result students are enjoying a holiday time. A large representation of the city's teaching force left for the convention headquarters last night and many others are following today for the special program of addresses and study sessions and the observation of model schools.

THANKOFFERING TAKEN AT MEETING OF SOCIETY

Marysville, Nov. 4—The annual thank offering of the Ladies' Missionary Society of the English Lutheran Church of this city, was held at the home of Mrs. Leo Scheiderer, Thursday afternoon. Features of the meeting were the gathering of thank offering boxes and the report of the delegate to the Western Conference, Synod of Ohio, of the United Lutheran Church.

MRS. J. BLUE HOSTESS TO LADIES' AID SOCIETY

Richwood, Nov. 4—The Ladies' Aid of Church of Christ met at the home of Mrs. J. Blue, N. Franklin-st Thursday afternoon. The meeting was opened with the Lord's prayer followed by Scripture lesson. A good attendance responded to roll call. Business was transacted and they discussed quilt-making. Delicious refreshments were served. Next meeting will be at Mrs. Roy Fayman.

SEEKS DIVORCE

Marysville, Nov. 4—Suit has been filed in the local common pleas court by Mrs. Elva Barnhart for divorce from her husband, Pearl Barnhart. She charges gross neglect of duty. The couple were married April 24, 1914, and have two children. She asks for divorce, alimony and custody of the children.

Nearness of Election Day Fails To Shake Prevailing Lack of Campaign Interest

In Absence of Single Important County-Wide Issue, Wyandot Political Forces Make Little Effort To Rally Full Strength for Approaching Contest

Upper Sandusky, Nov. 4—Lukewarm enthusiasm continues to prevail despite the nearing date for the county elections. Lack of any outstanding issue in the county is presumed to be the cause for the seeming lack of interest.

Probably the most important issue voters will have to decide will be the continuation of the one-mill levy for the construction, maintenance and repair of county roads. Since this levy has been in effect for some time and will not mean higher taxes, it is expected that the measure will carry. A $6,500 bond issue for five years in Richland Township for the purpose of purchasing and housing fire equipment demands some attention, expectations being that the proposal will carry by a strong majority. The recent disastrous fire at Wharton has helped greatly in advancing this issue.

Three school districts will vote on special tax levies, Sycamore rural will vote yes or no for a three mill tax for three years; Pitt Township, two mill for three years and Little Sandusky rural, one mill for two years.

Those on the ticket at Upper Sandusky are: Republican ticket, mayor, S. N. Clark; treasurer, E. R. Houser; clerk, no candidate; marshal, L. E. Sherry; councilmen, Henry W. Failor, J. H. Harman, Thomas Reber, M. Sullivan. Democrat ticket: mayor, John Binau, Jr.; treasurer, Frank H. Paessler; clerk, James R. Snyder; councilmen, Earl G. Newell, William Oelberg, Oscar Veith, Oscar J. Welker, J. H. Witzel.

At Carey the ticket reads: Republican: mayor, A. F. Byers; treasurer, H. H. Heck; marshal, S. H. McKee; council: Dale R. Capell, H. G. Chambers, W. B. Hoff, William T. Humbert, Free Scoarse, Robert Smith; board of public affairs, S. R. Bame, T. A. Hendricks, J. A. Newcomer. Democrat: mayor, Elza Jacobs; clerk, Daisy Moyer; treasurer, C. J. Hart; marshal, Robert McConnell; council, A. E. Constien, E. T. Black, J. E. Coulter, P. B. Emerine, Paul E. Krupp, H. E. Snyder; board of public affairs, A. J. Frederick, Otto Gottfried and D. C. Henry.

Included in the list of offices to be filled are two vacancies on the Upper Sandusky school board with Charles P. Troup, Paul W. Ayers and Lowell Hill, candidates for these places and two members on the Wyandot County board of education, Ira Swartz and C. A. Myers are candidates for a second term.

WORKSHOP PLAYERS OPEN WINTER SEASON

Three-Act Comedy by Philip Barry Presented at Galion High School

Galion, Nov. 4—Galion's theatrical season opened successfully last night when the Drama Workshop Players presented "The Youngest", a comedy in three acts by Philip Barry, to an appreciative and critical audience at the high school auditorium. The play was sponsored by the Galion Kiwanis club and was under the direction of Mrs. Loren E. Beck, the club's director who has for many years been associated with dramatic activites, here. Beautiful stage settings and costumes added to the atmosphere of the production and many other unique and interesting efforts were introduced.

Appearing for the first time before a local audience, Paul Randall, in the title role of Richard Winslow, "The Youngest," carried off honors and gave one of the most finished and well characterized performances ever seen on a Galion stage. Miriam Sayre played opposite as Nancy Blake. Hazel Garverick handled a difficult comedy part as Muff; Virginia Postance Phipps, another favorite of playgoers, was seen as the dashing Augusta; and Helen Spiggle played Katie, the demure maid. Older character parts were taken by Franklin Crum and Ava Swartz, who splendidly portrayed the Oliver and Mrs. Winslow of the comedy. Two new members of the dramatic organization were introduced at last night's presentation, Robert Yochem appearing as Mark Winslow and Glen Kerschner as Alan Martin, the family lawyer.

Theodore Schaefer supplied a number of pipe organ selections between the acts. Members of the managing committees for the performance included, Ethel Tracht, publicity manager; Charles Coyle, Billy McFarquhar and Floyd Myers, stage managers and Mrs. Paul Randall, make-up director.

The play will be repeated tonight and beginning next week intensive rehearsals for "The Bret" the next production, which is to be given early in December, will be begun.

TAX SETTLEMENT SHEET IS NEARING COMPLETION

Bucyrus, Nov. 4—The tax settlement sheet, which will show the total tax distribution is being complete by Herman Biebighauser in the county auditors office and will be finished by the end of the week. The tax sheet will not show the distribution in taxing districts. The complete county settlement sheet will not be fully completed for about two weeks, according to Biebighauser.

She has the second lead with Russell Janey's New York Opera Co., presenting "The Vagabond King." Miss Houk is singing the mezzo soprano part of Huegette.

COMPLETING PLANS FOR ANNUAL DRIVE

Dr. W. R. Redden, Washington, D. C., To Address Upper Sandusky Meeting

Upper Sandusky, Nov. 4—Last minute preparations for the launching of the eleventh annual Wyandot County Red Cross membership drive will be made at a get-together meeting of Red Cross officials and workers at the Presbyterian Church Tuesday night, the business session to be preceded by dinner at 6 o'clock. Chairmen of the various committees are exercising every effort to boost this meeting and it is hoped that high enthusiasm will be created prior to the launching of the drive, Nov. 11.

Dr. W. R. Redden, Washington, D. C., medical director of the American Red Cross, has been secured as speaker for the meeting. He will present vivid pictures of the great work this organization is accomplishing and will stress the urgent need for cooperation.

Organization of the county has been completed with Rev. Frederick Cromer, assuming the duties of county chairman. Subordinate chairmans for each township as well as the towns have been appointed, they in turn to appoint their solicitors. An effective combing of all Wyandot County territory will be accomplished by a thorough house to house canvas.

50TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCoy Observe Golden Wedding

Richwood, Nov. 4—Mr. and Mrs. L. J. McCoy and children, Elmore and Gertrude, attended the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. McCoy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCoy, Wilmington, Monday. At the noon hour, dinner was served for the immediate family and during the afternoon a reception was held and about 200 guests were present. Telegrams and cards were received from relatives and friends unable to attend. Mrs. L. J. McCoy sang several solos and Elmore and Gertrude McCoy gave several numbers on the piano and saxophone. Original poems were read by Mesdames Oliver and Arthur McCoy.

HEARING POSTPONEMENT IS GRANTED BY JUDGE

Bucyrus, Nov. 4—The request for postponement of hearing of defense counsel, O. W. Kennedy, and George Bryce, was granted by Judge J. Walter Wright yesterday who re-assigned the hearing on Wilbur Hand's motions for arrested judgment and new trial for Nov. 12, at 8:30 a. m.

What their newly discovered evidence concerns, defense counsel refused to state yesterday.

The motion for a new trial is based on allegations that the court erred in admission of testimony prejudical to the defense; excluding testimony to the prejudice of the defendant and that Prosecuting Attorney Louis Kreiter was guilty of misconduct in his argument to the jury.

ECCENTRIC THIEF

100-Pound Anvil Stolen From Kenton Garage

Kenton, Nov. 4—The eccentric thief has been found.

Opening his roadside garage located near Kenton along the Harding Highway, Ed Ward, mechanic and farmer, discovered one of the window lights broken out.

Upon further investigation he discovered that someone had carried off his 100-pound anvil, a dozen saws, and several prize chickens that had been in the habit of roosting in one section of the garage building.

Hardin County officials have been unable to uncover any clues.

DAIRY EXHIBIT TO BE HELD AT GALION

Prof. Blackman, Ohio State University, To Address Session at Armory

Galion, Nov. 4—Dairymen of the vicinity are much interested in a special exhibit which is scheduled for Galion next Thursday and will be held at the armory. Special addresses will be given by Prof. Blackman of Ohio State University, and Mr. Dennison, who is secretary of the Ohio Jersey Association.

Galion's Jersey association, a branch of the state group, will be organized Monday night with T. M. Palmer of the Erie development service and County Agricultural Agent Whonsettler assisting the local supervision committee.

A prize bull has been awarded to the Better Galion Club by the state association as an award for the splendid showing made in the state dairy exhibition last year and the prize animal is to be turned over to the new organization.

JEWELRY SELECTED BY GALION STUDENTS

Members of Junior Class Looking Forward to Play Announcement

Galion, Nov. 4—Junior class members of Galion high school held an important class meeting yesterday morning, at which time their class rings and pins were chosen. Margaret Tracht, Helen Laughbaum and Catherine Peebles headed the committee for selection and the entire class was allowed the final decision. Miss Mary Mather, faculty sponsor, presided at the meeting and unusual enthusiasm was shown. A heavy seal ring in green gold was chosen by a large majority and orders are now being taken.

The custom of Juniors, selecting their class rings has been long observed here and is one of the most important events of the entire Junior year. Now that class jewelry has ceased to be the chief topic of conversation members of the class of 1929 are eagerly awaiting the choice of the class play and its cast and the announcement of the spring reception committees.

SEVERAL INSTRUCTORS ATTEND CONVENTIONS

Richwood, Nov. 4—School was dismissed here today in order that the grade and high school teachers might attend the teacher's meeting at Cleveland and Dayton. Those attending the meeting at Cleveland are the Misses Lucile Smith, Edith Hartman, Garnet Alder, Mabel Cushman, Martha Randall, Anna Jones and Mrs. Ruth Weller.

Those attending the meeting at Dayton are: Supt. W. E. Beeman, O. B. Schmedial, Mrs. Jessie Randolph, Mrs. Alta Stearns, Miss Berneda Lowery, Miss Avey and Miss Lois Lowe.

PLAN ELIMINATIONS IN PEACE CONTEST

Upper Sandusky Church To Hold First Try-Out Sunday

Upper Sandusky, Nov. 4—Contestants for the third annual state Prince of Peace Declamatory contest are entering the race with various churches in the county holding local contests this Sunday and next.

Only two denominations in Upper Sandusky have contestants entered, one of these, Trinity Reformed, will have their try-out Sunday night with the following giving declamations: Virginia Bald, Katherine Good, Marion Good and Grace Lawrence. A week from Sunday marks the contest at the Methodist Episcopal church with six contestants entered. They are: Lucile Scherry, Charles Scherry, Bert Micklemen, Frederick Cassel, Bertram Leslie and Mary Schoenberger.

Emanuel Reformed Church will have their contest Sunday morning with the following entered: Helen Rachester, John Rachester and David Kotterman.

Rev. George W. Good, this city, will have charge of the county contest, the date to be announced soon.

LAST RITES HELD FOR KENTON WOMAN

Mrs. Tryphena Dell Frost, 65, Laid to Rest in Grove Cemetery

Kenton, Nov. 4—Funeral services for Mrs. Tryphena Dell Frost, 65, well known Kenton resident whose death occurred Thursday at her late home after a five years' illness, will be conducted from the Brindley Mortuary Saturday with interment in Grove Cemetery.

The deceased was born in Noble County. During her residence here she was a member of the First Reformed Church, and affiliated with the Women's Benefit Association, and the Women's Relief Corps.

Surviving are one daughter, Miss Blanche Frost and one son, Eli, both of Kenton, and one sister, Mrs. Martha Couples, Kenton. The husband died in 1918.

RICHWOOD MISSIONARY SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING

Richwood, Nov. 4—The Womans Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. Church met at the home of Mrs. Owen Livingston, N. Franklin-st, Friday afternoon. The meeting was opened by the auxiliary song. Mrs. O. L. Mather had charge of the devotionals. Business was transacted and a good report was given by the ladies, who attended the convention at Marion. Miss Nora Lake gave a chapter of the textbook, "A Straight Way Toward Tomorrow." Mrs George Hancock, leaflet, "The Cry of the Children;" Mrs. D. C. Tracy, "Air Mail Messages." Lunch was served by Mrs. Owen Livingston, Mrs. O. L. Mather and Mrs. Homer Kyle.

SYMPHONY SCHEDULE TO OPEN SATURDAY.

Head Concer Series

Walter Damrosch, dean of American musical conductors, who retired last year from more active musical life for the purpose of devoting himself, among other tasks to the opportunities for musical culture inherent in radio broadcasting, will conduct the New York Symphony Orchestra in a series of 20 concerts beginning Saturday, Nov. 5, to be broadcast to 20,000,000 persons in the United States, it is announced by David Sarnoff, vice president and general manager of the Radio Corporation of America, which will sponsor the series.

The concerts to be broadcast through WJZ and the blue network which includes 22 stations. The series will continue for a period of 20 weeks and will be given every Saturday night from 8 to 9 o'clock.

The football audience of WEAF and the red network will have its first opportunity to hear Graham McNamee, well known sports announcer, at 1:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon when he broadcasts a play-by-play account of the Pennsylvania-Harvard football game direct from the sidelines at Franklin Field, Philadelphia.

A half hour of band music transmitted from the War College at Washington, D. C., will be broadcast by station WJZ and the blue network at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night.

The Keystone Duo and Balladeers, a string ensemble, will be heard in a joint program again Saturday night when a half hour of music is broadcast by WJZ and the blue network beginning at 10 o'clock. Immediately following this program the blue network stations will go on the air with an hour of dance music.

Senator James S. Watson of Indiana will deliver an address on "Laws and Lawmakers" which will be broadcast by station WJZ and the blue network, Saturday night, at 10 o'clock.

	Yes	(By Supplementary Initiative Petition)
X	No	Proposing to create a separate state licensing board for chiropractors; to grant powers and duties to such board; TO FURTHER EXTEND THE RIGHTS AND PRIVILEGES OF CHIROPRACTORS; to define chiropractic; to repeal laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this Act. Presented to the General Assembly of Ohio by Initiative Petition January 21, 1927; rejected by the General Assembly March 15, 1927. Supplementary Petition filed with the Secretary of State June 6, 1927. A BILL To regulate the practice of Chiropractic in this state by authorizing the examination and licensing of practitioners thereof, establishing educational requirements, and providing penalties for illegal practice.

Put Your X Opposite the Word NO.

Marion, Ohio, November 4, 1927.

To Our Friends:-

Do you believe in education?

We know you do, so are taking both your time and ours to bring to your attention a matter of vital importance to those interested in both community and self protection.

The INITIATED CHIROPRACTIC BILL will come before the people of Ohio for vote on November 8, 1927. We are asking you to vote NO.

At present those Chiropractors, who are High School graduates, may obtain a license to practice "Chiropractic" upon passing an examination in anatomy, physiology, chemistry, pathology and diagnosis. The examination upon "chiropractic" being given by a committee of licensed Chiropractors. This is so satisfactory to those able to pass the examination that the Licensed Chiropractic Society of Ohio is also opposing the bill.

Under the plea that they desire a BOARD OF THEIR OWN a bill, similar to those defeated twelve times in our state legislature, is being brought to a vote. This bill is NOT for a separate board alone but contains provisions very dangerous to health.

First they desire to have the position of physicians in court cases—wills and insanity. They to have EIGHTEEN MONTHS schooling as compared to the minimum SIX YEARS training of physicians and surgeons.

Next they wish to treat infantile paralysis, diphtheria, scarlet fever, smallpox and venereal diseases. They do not believe a diagnosis is necessary or that these diseases are contagious. We understand that this bill is desired, mainly, by those chiropractic students unable to pass the present examination.

Do you believe that men who say there is no such thing as infection are to be entrusted with CONFINEMENT CASES? They want the privilege of so doing.

Our candid opinion is that the sincere, conscientious and well thinking people of our community and this state will vote NO on such a dangerous bill on November 8, 1927.

Sincerely yours,

The Marion County Medical Society

Harding High Gridders Get Set For Mansfield Big Red

To Seek Revenge Saturday

BY TOM BUCHANAN
Sports Editor of The Star

HARDING		MANSFIELD
Lewis	l. e.	Stanley
Rieff	l. t.	Angle
Zimmer	l. g.	E. McMullen
Evans	c.	Shiplet
Kramer	r. g.	Altner
Smith	r. t.	Koogle
Houghton	r. e.	Robinson
Lowe	q.	F. McMullen
McAninch	l. h.	Shasky
Garrett	r. h.	Bride
Stafford	f. b.	Perkins

These are the gridders who will likely get the call to start the annual clash between the Big Red of Mansfield and the Red and Black of Harding Saturday afternoon.

That it will be the game of the year goes without saying. The Red and Black smarting under an ignoble beating due to overconfidence at the hands of Bucyrus last Saturday is after its pound of N. C. O. flesh and expects to do the butchering on Mansfield.

Hard Drill

Last night the entire squad was put through a stiff workout by Coaches Bohyer and Compton. It was an intensive drill tended to brush up the rough spot in some of the plays and was followed by a few minutes scrimmage.

There shouldn't be anything like over confidence to bother the Red and Black Saturday. After the work the team has had this week and the beating last Saturday every vestige of that should have disappeared. And more than that Coach Bohyer has issued a neatly engraved and autographed warning to several first stringers that with the first show of indifferent playing they will be warming the bench. The warning came last night and should take effect as it was given in a manner widely different from Coach Bohyer's usual style of handing out instructions.

The team will have the absolute and undivided support of the student body Saturday afternoon. A special rooters club has been organized and octracism awaits all but the leather lunged. The town may be black and blue Saturday night but it will be black and red Saturday morning if present plans of the Harding rooters are carried out. A complete decoration of the town is being planned.

Practice This Afternoon

This afternoon at 2 o'clock Coach Bohyer will take his gridders to the fairgrounds for a final workout before the game. The afternoon practice is made possible due to the fact that there are no classes today.

Harding still has a chance to win undisputed place in the N. C. O. League firmament although the chance is about as far fetched as the story about the two Irishmen. If Harding beats Mansfield Saturday, and Shelby Nov. 19 and if Mansfield beats Shelby next Saturday and then loses to Ashland on Nov. 24, that will give Harding the pennant.

The IFS have it!

NO MONEY, NO FIGHT; WAXMAN EMULATES KEARNS' SHELBY ACT

Joe Dundee Fails To Defend Title Against Ace Hudkins

Los Angeles, Calif., Nov. 4—The boxing situation hereabouts was in a deplorable muddle today over the failure of Joe Dundee and Ace Hudkins to engage in their widely heralded welterweight championship bout at Wrigley Field last night.

Upwards of 20,000 fans who had paid approximately $55,000 were in their seats patiently awaiting the appearance of Dundee, the title holder.

But Dundee did not appear and the reason was that Max Waxman, his manager, wanted his $60,000 guarantee in cash before the champion entered the ring. Dick Donald, the promoter, did not have the "sixty grand" and seemed unable to get it.

Finally along about midnight, after two preliminaries had been run off and Hudkins, the challenger, had entered and withdrawn from the ring three different times, the crowd became unruly and threatened to riot. Then it was officially announced the fight was "off."

Whereupon Ace Hudkins claimed the welterweight championship of the world—on the grounds that Dundee had refused to defend his title. The Baltimore Italian never did get as far as the ring.

Donald, admitting defeat in his final gamble, claimed that enemies were responsible for his dilemma and threatened to blow the lid off boxing conditions in California.

Waxman remained adamant throughout the pleadings of Donald and the boxing commissioners. Dundee remained in seclusion in his downtown hotel room to await the word to come to the arena from his manager.

WOOSTER TRAVELS

Game Will Be Nineteenth Between Reserve and Presbyterians

Wooster, Nov. 4—When Wooster and Reserve meet at Shaw Stadium at Cleveland Saturday it will be the nineteenth grid battle between teams from the two schools. Wooster, thanks to the victories under the Bolen regime has the lead in wins. Wooster has won nine games, Reserves seven and two were scoreless ties.

The game this week will be the annual Migration Day for Wooster. Headed by the college band of thirty-two pieces, practically the entire student body will trek to Cleveland for the week-end.

NORTHERN TO MATCH MIAMI'S PASSING GAME

Taking advantage of a school holiday yesterday Coach Bill Meredith put his squad through a two hour chalk talk in the morning and an hour and a half intensive scrimmage in the afternoon in preparation for the Miami game here Saturday.

Judging by yesterday's scrimmage Northern is to match Miami's passing offense with one she is developing herself, and the game bids fair to be an aerial battle. The freshmen, using Miami's formation and offense were easily stopped by the varsity last night while the first string men unleashed a bewildering offense which had the yearling team completely baffled.

The active career of Hughey Jennings as a baseball player was cut short when he was struck on the head by a wild pitch. At that ime Jennings was with the Baltimore club and one of the greatest shortstops in the game.

BOWLING RESULTS

Two Marion bowling teams will take on out of town talent Saturday night when teams come here from Bucyrus and Kenton.

High scores for the past week on the Y. M. C. A. alleys were rolled by Burnett with 243 for men, and Blunt with 180 as high for women.

Last night in the Tap and Die League the grinding department team took the first and last games from the automatic department team.

In the industrial league the Y-Indus dropped three straight to the Huber team and Anthony Laundry took two and dropped one in the match with the American Express.

Schedule Includes 12 Games

Four Lettermen To Be Back; Six Games on Home Floor

Although Coach "Baldy" Compton has not issued a call for Red and Black cage aetists to start work on the high school floor prospects for the coming basketball season look good from a distance of six weeks. Compton expects to have his men at work within the next two weeks.

Eleven games not including the high school basketball tournament at Delaware in March and the annual encounter with the alumni of Harding, are on the bill for the locals this winter. Of these five will be played at home and the remainder away.

First Game Dec. 16

The Red and Black will go into action for the first time of the year on Dec. 16. A team for this date has not as yet been booked according to Compton, but negotiations are in progress with teams from Toledo and Dayton. The game will be played here. The next game will be with the Harding alumni and will be played sometime between Christmas and New Year's Day. The first North Central Ohio League game will be played Jan. 13 when Mansfield comes here.

With one exception an entire squad of lettermen will be available out of which Coach Compton can build a team. Six of the eight men who played in the Delaware tournament last winter will be eligible for participation this year. The lettermen are Garrett and Evans, forwards; McAninch, guard; and Gillis, center. Gilmore, a center, and Cline forward, saw service last year. All the letter men with the exception of Gillis are playing football and will not be out for basketball practice until the close of the gridiron season which is Nov. 19.

Sophomores Have Material

Houghton and Cram, both on the squad last year will be eligible again this year. Bob Lewis, who also has some basketball attainments but who was not out last year, will likely be out this winter. Besides these there seems to be some likely material in the crop of sophomores sent in from Central and Vernon Heights Junior High Schols. Castner stands out as the most likely among this group.

The Harding cage schedule follows:
Dec. 16, open.
Jan. 6, Lima Central, there.
Jan. 13, Mansfield, here.
Jan. 20, Bucyrus, here.
Jan. 21, Springfield, there.
Jan. 27, Delaware, there.
Feb. 3, Galion, there.
Feb. 10, Ashland, there.
Feb. 17, Shelby, here.
Feb. 18, open.
Feb. 24, Delaware, here.
Mar. 2, 3, 9, 10, tournament at Delaware.

N. C. O. L. TEAMS PLAY THESE GAMES

Mansfield at Marion.
Fostoria at Bucyrus.
Wooster at Ashland (today).

AIDS GRIDDERS

Charles Borah, world's champion sprinter, of the University of Southern California, has donned a football uniform, but not as a candidate for the varsity. He has been practicing with the team in order to give them experience at catching lightning bolts that they may feel at home in stopping fast backs.

BISHOPS ARRIVE IN SYRACUSE FOR GAME; DRILL IN STADIUM

Ohio Team Doped To Drop Game to Strong New Yorkers

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 4—Ohio Wesleyan's football squad worked out at Archbold stadium here this morning in final preparation for their intersectional game with Syracuse here Saturday. The Battling Bishops, 28 strong, arrived here from Delaware, Ohio, in a special Pullman this morning.

Coach George Gauthier sent his men through a light drill this morning evidently intended merely to limber them up after their long train ride last night.

Robert Tilton, tackle, the only man on the present Ohio Wesleyan team who played throughout the 1925 Syracuse-Ohio Wesleyan game, was named today by Coach George Gauthier as the Ohio Wesleyan captain for the game with Syracuse. Tilton, who has twice been selected as an all-Ohio tackle, was a considerable factor in the 1925 game in which the Battling Bishops tied Syracuse 3 to 3 and registered the first score of the season against the Orange.

Syracuse is figured here to be certain victor in its game with Ohio Wesleyan tomorrow. Ohio Wesleyan players and coaches feel, however that if the Battling Bishops show continued improvement Saturday, they have an even side chance to surprise their eastern opponents.

MT. UNION AND CASE SPLIT 14 GRID BATTLE

Alliance, Nov. 4—Since 1913 Case and Mount Union College have met the Mount Union gridiron in 14 battles. Last year Case won, 9 to 7, even the count in victories with seven games each, one reason why Coach John Thorpe is pointing his team toward the game Saturday.

The Mount coaching staff has a big problem this week in preparing for the Case invasion. It must fight against overconfidence which would spell defeat for Mount's sophomore team, a team which may creep in due to the Purple's 14 to 13 victory Saturday over Akron.

HAGEN AFTER FIFTH TITLE

TWO PLAYERS STAND BETWEEN "HAIG" AND P. G. A. TITLE

Present Champ Is 7-5 Favorite To Win from Al Espinosa

Golden Gate Country Club, Dallas, Tex., Nov. 4—Only two men stood between Harry, of Pasadena, Fla., and the fifth National Professional Golf Association championship as the tenth annual tournament entered the semi-final round here today.

The great "Haig" who has won about every prize in golf for which he was eligible to compete, meets Al Espinosa of Glenco, Ill., today and if he wins he will face the winner of the Joe Turnesa-John Golden match in tomorrow's finals. Those two are the remaining survivors in the lower bracket. Mr. Turnesa hails from Elms Ford, N. Y. Golden is registered from Paterson, N. J.

After conquering the National and Canadian open champion, Tommy Armour, of Washington, D. C., yesterday, Hagen became a long shot favorite to cop the tournament. If he succeeds, it will give him four in a row. He also won in 1921. Hence, a victory this year will give him the outstanding record of having won half of the P. G. A. tournaments held in the history of the organization, which was founded in 1916, the year of the first tournament. Operations were suspended during the war years of 1917 and 1918.

As the four survivors of the first three rounds match play prepared to tee off today, the "Haig" was quoted all the way from 7 to 5 to 2 to 1 to win his semi-final match with Espinosa. The latter was carried to the thirty-sixth green Thursday by Mortie Dutra, the "dark horse" from Tacoma.

5c IS PLENTY!

No Need to Pay More for a Good Cigar. Thirty-year Favorite Now 5c Everywhere. Read the Details!

It cost more than a nickel for years. It was such a corking good smoke, so mild, fragrant, satisfying, that sales boomed. The manufacturer reduced the price. The sales curve kept going up. Then the cigar was bettered in quality and production soared on to new levels. Tremendous volume kept the price at five cents.

That's why you don't have to pay more than 5c today to buy a real cigar, expertly made from ripe tobacco. It sounds too good to be true, we'll admit. There's only one way to settle all doubt about it. Buy one Havana Ribbon.

A nickel is little enough to pay til introduces you to a cigar as sweet and full-bodied as Havana Ribbon. Drop in at any cigar counter and light up. The first draw will convince you for all time.

Big Ten Provides Thrillers

Chicago, Nov. 4—Half of the Big Ten Conference gridiron machines were moving cross country today to the scenes of tomorrow's conflicts. Meanwhile, the squads that will entertain at home were making the most of the opportunity to get in last-minute workouts.

Coach Stagg at the University of Chicago had his boys out bright and early for a final oiling in preparation for Michigan. Stagg's chief worry is a punter to match the shoots of Louis Gilbert, star Wolverine back.

Renew Fued

The renewal of the ancient Michigan-Chicago feud is attracting wide attention, despite the fact that each team has already lost one conference verdict.

There are only two other "simon pure" conference games on tomorrow's card. Illinois plays Iowa at Iowa City and Northwestern clashes with Purdue at Lafayette. Both of these games should be "hot." Iowa, with a poor record to date, has a chance to buck up and knock the unbeaten Illini out of a tie for conference leadership.

Purdue, with no conference victory to its credit as yet, is expected to cut loose against Dick Hanley's Wildcats with everything in the boilermaker repertoire. "Cotton" Wilcox and "Pest" Welch are reported to be "rarin' to go." On the other hand, Northwestern is smarting under two successive defeats and is equally determined to redeem its record against Purdue.

Minnesota tied for the conference lead with Illinois, is taking on Knute Rockne's Irish at Notre Dame in one of the most important contests of the day.

Wisconsin has an easy one in Grinnel. Indiana will entertain Michigan State, and Ohio State will beard the Tiger in his lair at Princeton. An interesting day for the Big Ten!

Buckeyes Are Determined To Continue Winning By Caging Tiger At Princeton

Eby, Back in Running Form, Will Likely Get Call with Kriss at Halves; Other Backs Hard To Figure Because of General Shifting in Scrimmage

COLUMBUS, Nov. 4—It was a determined squad of Buckeyes that boarded the special train at the Union Station last night for the first invasion of Princeton and the first game in history between Ohio State and one of the Big Three. The Ohioans are bent on continuing the come-back gained in the victory over Chicago last Saturday in which the revamped lineup showed promise.

Ohio Is Underdog

Faced with the task of meeting a grade "A" Princeton outfit that has met with no defeats this season and which last week-end trimmed William and Mary with five regular Tigers out of the lineup, the Scarlet and Gray machine enters the battle the underdog. If victory can be snatched within the shadows of Palmer Stadium it will be all the more to the Ohioans' credit.

The starting lineup will show but little variation from that which faced the Maroons last week. Rowan will be at full, with Ohsner standing by to fill the gap if need be as first relief. Cory is still on the shelf because of injures and is not likely to appear in the game.

With Eby, who was hurt in the Michigan game back in running form, Dr. Wilce will doubtless assign him and Kriss as the starting halves. This will shift Grim back to his old job at quarterback.

Backs Hard To Figure

The Buck backfield is hard to figure, however, before game time since Fouch may get the call at quarter based on his showing against the Staggmen. Grim and Kriss can be used at the halves and with Eby playing the role of "hole card".

Ullery will have the center of the line to protect, Cox and "Bill" Young will hold down the guard posts, Uridil and Raskowski are due to start the tackles while Alber and Robin Bell are set for the flanks.

Some variation of this lineup is probable since Captain Meyer, Huston, Ackerman and Marck may any of them be picked to answer the opening kickoff whistle. Meyer's injury failed to prevent him playing an excellent game at Uridil's tackle last week and it is possible that he will be able to stick the entire game in his old guard position.

STATE GAME ON AIR

Station WJZ in Hookup with WEAO, KDKA; WHAM, WLW

Those followers of the gridiron activities of the Scarlet and Gray of Ohio State University who won't be able to attend in person the Buckeye-Princeton battle in Princeton Saturday need not be without all the details of the game as it is played punt by punt and pass by pass.

Beginning at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon WJZ, key station of the blue network, will go on the air with a play by play account of the battle. The broadcast will be relayed to stations WEAO, the University broadcasting station, KDKA, Pittsburgh; WHAM, Rochester; and WLW, Cincinnati.

CALLS FOR PLAYERS

Midway Basketball Team Has Some Vacant Spots in Lineup

The Midway basketball team has some vacant spots in its lineup according to George Paulson, promoter and business manager. Paulson expects to issue a call for his players soon and will entertain any new candidates that care to try out.

Practice for the Midway outfit will start soon, according to Paulson. He hopes to get the results of some games on the record books before many weeks.

Johnny Driher will manage the team.

One factory in Chicago has a capacity for turning out 3,000 high-grade baseball bats in a day.

ROOTERS' CLUB IS FORMED BY PUPILS

Harding High Students Complete Organization at Pep Assemblies

Organization of a "Rooters' Club," for which plans were made at pep assemblies of Harding High School students yesterday morning, was completed at a gathering of more than 125 students late yesterday afternoon at the school.

The club, a comparatively new thing at Harding High School, was organized for the purpose of uniform rooting, to lead the school cheers and songs at the football games. They will make their initial appearance at the Mansfield-Harding homecoming game here Saturday.

Officers elected were Robert George, president, Francis Blake, vice president, Edgar Hastings, secretary, Howard Bailey, treasurer, and Walter Moore, reporter. E. H. Shade sponsors the organization.

FOUND GUILTY

Janitor Convicted of Hatchet Murder of Brooklyn Woman

New York, Nov. 4—Ludwig Halvorsen Lee, janitor, today had been found guilty of the hatchet murder of Mrs. Selma Larsen Bennett, Brooklyn, last July 10. His trial extended over three weeks.

Lee had also been indicted on a charge of murder, first degree, for the death of Miss Sarah E. Brownell, but he was not tried on that charge. He was accused of having killed Mrs. Bennett when she learned he had killed Miss Brownell. The bodies of both women were dismembered and parts scattered over the city.

Lee was remanded to jail for sentence on Nov. 11.

Next to hunting hidden hen's nests for enjoyment, is renting a post office lockbox and looking in it to see if there is anything there.

HELEN DORSEY HEADS GRADE HONOR LIST

Sophomore Girl Averages 96.25 in Studies During Month, Report

Helen Dorsey, Harding High School sophomore, heads the honor list for highest grades for the last month, according to announcement made in the office today.

Quiver Junior, Harding High School weekly, released last night. Students of the Journalism classes compile honor roll statistics each month, announcing the results in the school paper. Her average, for all subjects for the entire month, was 96.25 per cent.

Lenore Bondley, junior, was second with a 95.6 per cent average, and Mildred Deihl, senior, third with 95.2 per cent.

Ninety-seven students were included on the list this month, 35 sophomores, 32 seniors and 31 juniors. Juanita Miller held the second highest average for the seniors with 94.5 per cent, Jane Smith, second for the juniors with 94.25 per cent and Edith Whitehead, second for sophomores with 95.6 per cent.

HASN'T FELT SO GOOD IN 20 YEARS

Read Mr. Awtry's testimonial as to what ALL-BRAN does in stamping out constipation.

"I'm a man 56 years of age, have had chronic constipation for 35 years. I have been taking all kinds of purgatives, scarcely—if ever—have a natural movement. Have spent a great deal of money and no permanent relief. . . . When I had used one package of your ALL-BRAN, I found I could discard my pills and tablets. I haven't felt as good in 20 years.
Jos. W. Awtry, Atlanta, Ga.

You can get permanent, natural relief from constipation by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Guaranteed. Doctors recommend it because it is 100% bran.

Eat ALL-BRAN with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Use in cooking. Mix with other cereals. Served and sold everywhere. Ready to eat. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Recipes on package.

MINISTER ADDRESSES KIWANIS LUNCHEON

Rev. Geoge A. Whitlock Tells of Conditions in Europe and Asia

Primitive methods used by peasants centuries ago in carrying on their simple duties, are the same methods that are being used today in many of the countries of Europe and Asia, Rev. George A. Whitlock, pastor of the Wesley M. E. Church, told members of the Kiwanis Club at their luncheon at Hotel Harding yesterday.

Reverend Whitlock, who returned recently from a trip abroad, said even in France with its modern cities, it was not uncommon to see women throughout the rural districts, washing their clothes in the rivers just as their ancestors did hundreds of years ago. In Palestine cattle still are used to tramp the grain in threshing and the chaff is fanned from the grain by the wind as it is lifted and poured from a form of shovel, just as it was done centuries ago.

England, he said, is doing much for the people of the Holy Land. Electric pumps have been installed to pump pure water for the use of the natives, but despite this, they still continue to buy water from the peddlers in the street, in dirty goat skins filled from still dirtier wells.

In describing the reluctance with which the natives take up reforms suggested by the British, the speaker said it was necessary for England to build a fence along the shores of the Sea of Galilee and station soldiers on guard to prevent the natives from drinking the water which had been responsible for the high death rate, especially among the children. It was necessary to rebuild the fence a number of times, where it had been torn down by the natives in their determination to drink the polluted water.

FACE BROKEN OUT 4 YEARS

Pimples Itched and Burned. Cuticura Heals.

"For four years my face was broken out with pimples. Some of them were hard, large and red and others festered. They itched and burned and I would lay awake at night and scratch them. My face was disfigured so that I was ashamed to go out in company.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I purchased more, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Edna Gillen, Emerson, Iowa.

BELIEVE COLORED MEN ROBBED STORE

Girl Clerk Reports Seeing Two Negroes Wearing New Suits, Overcoats

Two suits of clothing, two overcoats, two hats and two pair of shoes, missing from the stock at the J. C. Penney store leads R. J. Garceau, manager of the store, and the police to believe the small burglar who robbed the store of approximately $300 worth of silk underwear, hosiery and other merchandise early Thursday morning, had an accomplice.

The suit and a soiled shirt which is believed to have belonged to the burglar, who entered the store by means of a knotted rope attached to a skylight, were found by clerks in various parts of the store which with the discarded overcoat discovered yesterday morning and the rope by which he had made his entrance, were turned over to the police.

The only possible clew to the identity of the intruders which has come to light, was supplied by a girl clerk in the store who said that on her way to work Thursday morning she had passed two negroes, each garbed in new suits, new overcoats, new hats and new shoes and carry new suitcases. The fact that several suit cases were among the articles taken from the store, lends strength to the theory that the men seen by the girl, were the burglars.

It also has been discovered that the burglary was committed after 4:30 Thursday morning. The patrolman employed by merchants reported that he had tried the rear door at that time and it was locked. The burglar used this door in leaving with his loot, a large brass lock being broken.

A small dagger was also found by clerks in the store, evidently dropped by the burglar in changing his clothes.

TRANSFER WORKER HURT

Trinidad Luis, 20, Mexican, employe of the Erie Transfer, sustained minor injuries about 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon when a piano which he was moving, fell off a truck, injuring his ankle. He was taken to City Hospital in the O. E. Curtis & Co. ambulance.

CONDITION BETTER

The condition of Miss Edna Brewer of near Marion, sixth grade teacher in the Prospect Schools, who underwent an appendicitis operation yesterday at City Hospital, is reported to be good today.

ANOTHER MARION LADY INDORSING THE NEW KONJOLA

Ended the Dreadful Neuritis Pains She Was Suffering

Reports are now being received from all parts of Marion, in which men and women are describing the wonderful relief this celebrated Konjola medicine has given them in cases of stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders or rheumatism and neuritis. Just a few days ago, Mrs. Emma McNeal, well known Marion lady, living at 322 Uncapher Ave., this city, made the following remarkable statement to the Konjola Man who is at the Stump and Sams Pharmacy, 121 S. Main St., Marion, where he is meeting large crowds in person every day and explaining this surprising new compound.

"Konjola has helped me a great deal more than I ever expected of any medicine," said Mrs. McNeal. "It built up my health in general and at the same time it relieved the awful neuritis pains which I had been suffering for years.

"I was having a terrible time with my nerves and I couldn't find a medicine to help me. But the worst thing about my case was the dreadful neuritis pains which affected my arms and limbs. My muscles seemed to jerk and twist, and I often felt like every nerve in my body was on edge. I couldn't sleep, and I know I was suffering worse agonies than I could describe in writing. Both day and night I was in misery.

"I couldn't find anything that would really end my trouble, and I didn't know what to do next. Then I heard about Konjola and what it was doing for Marion people, so I went to the Konjola Man and I got this medicine and started taking it right away. I noticed a difference almost at once, and I continued with Konjola until now I can hardly realize that I ever had a sick day in my life, and the wonderful relief I got from that awful neuritis is the greatest blessing of all. I can sleep a whole night without one single pain. I always feel good in the mornings, and seem to have more life and energy than I ever noticed in myself before.

"After all the great good Konjola has done for me I can recommend it to everyone."

The Konjola Man is at the Stump & Sams Pharmacy, 121 South Main St., Marion, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Konjola is now being sold by all of the good druggists in every nearby town of this whole section.—Adv.

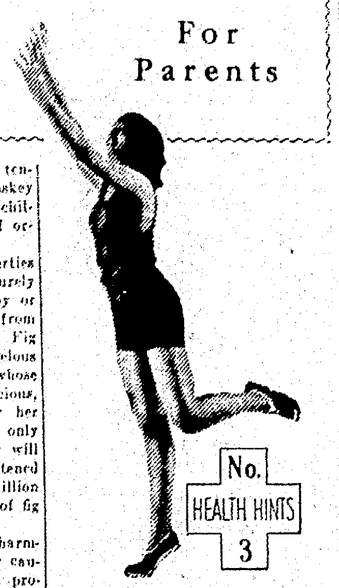
HEALTH HINTS



What mother would give her ten-year-old daughter a drink of whiskey for a cold? Then don't drug your children when their bowels are out of order!

Investigate the remarkable properties of fig syrup, mother! It is a purely vegetable product that leads a boy or girl out of constipation, and away from all need of cathartics. California Fig Syrup is, in fact, a most marvelous body-builder. A wan, pale girl whose organs are quickened by this delicious, fruity syrup will amaze you by her easier study and harder play—in only a couple of weeks! Or your boy will start to fill out and take on heightened color in the same time! And a million mothers know what a few drops of fig syrup do for an ailing infant.

California Fig Syrup is utterly harmless, of course. The one need for caution is to get the real California product. Say "California" and get the genuine; the generous bottle is only sixty cents at all dealers. So it isn't expensive!

Try California Fig Syrup two weeks on any child, and let his altered appearance and actions tell the full story! —Adv.

Sugardale Country Club Sausage

MADE by a new recipe—of selected tender young porkers and just the right amount of spice—you'll agree Sugardale Country Club Sausage is the most delicious and appetizing you ever ate.

And it's as pure as it is good. Approved by Health Inspectors, made in surroundings as clean as your kitchen, and packed in sanitary dust-proof cartons, Sugardale is the purest as well as the most tasty sausage you can buy.

Serve it for breakfast, lunch and dinner, to children and adults, too. This all-pork sausage provides just the heat and energy our bodies need to build us up for the rigors of approaching cold.

But be sure it's Sugardale—you'll enjoy it more, and the handy links make cooking easier. Demand the blue-and-white box at your dealer's. There are tempting new recipes in every package.

WHERE MARION BUYS ITS FRUIT

Peter's Adventures

The Star's Daily Story for Boys and Girls

BY FLORENCE S. VINCENT

BREAD AND MILK

"TEE-HEE!! What's the sense in asking 'Who goes there?' You must know who comes here?" giggled the Bat. Who comes here, as the clumsy form at Peter's feet wobbled a step nearer. "You know, I am walking straight toward, not away from you. Boy, or you wouldn't have stepped backward, as you did just then. Your mistaking me for Batty proves that though you may be bright enough as Two-Legs go, you are a bit stupid when it comes to the ways of the night roamers. Seldom, if ever, does a Bat care to make friends with a perfect stranger, and friends with a perfect stranger, and friends he does he expects to be treated like a gentleman. When he meets any one who is impolite enough to slap at him or to try to catch him by the foot he flies circles about his head just to make his tormentor, and then off he goes and never comes back."

The Boy fairly gasped.

"I didn't slap at Bat, and certainly you can guess by my size that I didn't try to catch him!"

"Well, you didn't listen when he spoke to you, and that was almost as bad. You may as well make up your mind to forget him. Batty will never have anything more to do with you were you to offer him the sweetest of milk or bread or sugar."

The squeaky voice was quite decided.

"Bread and milk and sugar!" repeated Peter, and forgot all the rest the stranger had said in his interest in the last few words. "Do Bats like the same foods we Two-Legs do?"

"Well, rather!" squeaked the stranger, and giggled again. "The only trouble is that Bats have to steal such fare from under the noses of the Two-Legs, and though Bats are very clever, that is not such an easy job as you may think. Of course, if the creatures let themselves be captured by the Two-Legs and shut up in cages or tucked inside stuffy boxes, they may live on such delicacies to the end of their days, for the Two-Legs are not stingy when it comes to food, whatever their other faults may be. But what Bat wants to be captive. He would rather be free to flap through the night, even if he does have to hunt hard for his dinner of gnats and grasshoppers and crickets and roaches."

U. S. POLICING OF C. A. DUE FOR REAL FIGHT

Latin - American Countries Seek Adoption of "Outlaw" Resolution

Washington, Nov. 4—The current United States policy of policing Central America through the medium of landing marines to stamp out revolutions and supervise elections apparently is in for some hard knocks when the statesmen of the western hemisphere foregather in Havana in January in the latter's Pan-American Congress.

Informal notice has already reached Washington that several Latin-American countries are going to put up a real fight for the adoption of a resolution which will declare that nation to be an "outlaw" which for any purpose whatsoever occupies a portion of the territory of another country with armed forces.

This is, in effect, is a frontal assault on the American occupation of Nicaragua and Haiti, where U. S. Marines are now stationed on a more or less permanent basis. And had such a resolution been in effect during the last 40 years the United States would have been the "outlaw" nation most of that time.

Since the 85 years in which postage stamps have been sold, Europe, it is computed, has needed 12,895; Asia, 2,000; Africa, 0,924; America, 7,320; the West Indies, 2,845; and Oceania, 2,335. Great Britain started the flood by issuing the "penny black" and the "penny post" system, and from these humble beginnings the habit has spread all over the world.

Salaries paid to the governors of the British Dominions range from $50,000 a year, paid in Canada, Australia, South Africa and Newfoundland to $13,750, paid in Tasmania.

SELLING WAVE HALTS RALLIES

Traders Encouraged by Ability of Stock List To Hold Its Own

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks, irregular; industrial stocks irregular; domestic bonds irregular; foreign bonds, firm; call money, 3½ per cent; grain, steady; copper, steady; oil, steady; cotton, steady; rubber, reactionary; sugar irregular; pig iron, irregular; foreign exchange, steady.

New York, Nov. 4—A wave of profit-taking and professional selling near the week-end blocked the progress of the forward movement of industrial stocks in the New York market today. The ability of the market to hold its own, after the sharp rallies of the past two days, together with the continued advances of various specialties, held out considerable encouragement.

The bullish interests in Wall Street. The industrial leaders like United States Steel, General Motors, General Electric and American Smelting withstood heavily selling at a moderate decline in prices as compared with the previous close. The oil stocks also displayed more resistance to selling pressure, the general view of the oil situation having undergone a considerable change for the better in the last few days, with the removal of the "menace" of Seminole over-production of crude oil. Coppers took the place of the oils in the new bullish movements of the day, and specialties like radio and the tobacco shares carried their rallies to a slightly higher level of prices.

Weds Again After Two Divorces Cost Him Million

JOHN BRANDEIS, internationally known polo player and wealthiest man in Nebraska, recently married for the third time, completing a cycle in marital affairs that is interesting.

Brandeis came into an estate estimated at close to ten million dollars. He is now only 32, and in 10 years has been three times married and twice divorced.

His first wife was Madeleine Franke of San Francisco, to whom he was married in 1917. They parted soon after. Brandeis settled $700,000 on her, and gave her more than $100,000 in jewelry.

Some time later Brandeis married Mrs. Emily Ryan Coleman, wealthy and charming widow. Their romance lasted only a short time and Brandeis settled $400,000 on her when they were divorced.

After this romance was smashed, Brandeis returned to Omaha and settled down to business affairs, but later made a trip abroad.

He met Claire Blavette, daughter of the noted French surgeon, Victor Blavette. She had been divorced from Clement Moore Ogden, Philadelphia sportsman. Brandeis wooed and won her and they are now on their honeymoon in the United States.

Chicago, Nov. 4—Wheat developed firmness in the latter part of the session yesterday and showed net gains for the day. A feature of the market was its resistance to selling pressure. Relative strength of the Winnipeg market was a stimulating factor. The volume of outside trade continued to be small.

Corn futures also rallied from an early depression and showed advances at the close of the day. Trade was principally local in character and a good deal of the buying was against indemnities. Oats were relatively stronger than any of the grains, while rye was weak most of the day and closed at net losses.

Closing prices represented net advances of ¼@½c for wheat, while corn was ¼@½c higher. Oats closed ⅜@⅝c higher and rye was ¼@⅝c lower. Export sales of 500,000 bu. were reported at the seaboard. Liverpool wheat closed unchanged to ⅛ pence lower.

Shorts Buy Wheat

Quite a short interest among pit traders was created in wheat under $1.25 and commission houses took a good part of the offerings. Some of the active local traders bought later and started a covering movement, prices moving up quickly. The trade was impressed by the firmness of the Winnipeg market.

Corn was firm most of the day with volume of trade light. There was local buying against indemnities and a little commission house demand. Local selling appeared on the bulge. Attention was attracted by the fact that primary receipts of corn were much lighter than a year ago. Cash corn also was firm.

Country offerings of corn to arrive are small. Weather conditions over the belt were favorable for curing the crop, being clear with light frosts. The new corn promises to be of good quality and some think it will sell at a premium over the old corn.

Oats ruled strong, but trade was not large. Commission houses and shorts bought only. Some realizing by longs on the advance and some selling by the Northwest in way of spreading, but offerings generally light. Orders were in the market to buy December and sell May oats at 2c difference.

Tone of the rye market was easier. Scattered selling was too much for the buying order. No fresh export business was reported.

TOLEDO CLOSE

Toledo, Nov. 4—Wheat No. 2 red 1.32@1.36; corn No. 3 yellow 86@87; oats No. 2 white 53½@54½; rye No. 2 1.00.

Seed close: Clover cash imported 16.50; cash domestic 17.00; Dec. domestic 17.70 asked; Dec. imported 16.80; Feb. domestic 17.80 asked; March domestic 17.75 asked; alsike, cash 12.40; Dec. 12.50; Jan. 12.70; Feb. 12.80; Timothy, cash 2.07½; Dec. 2.12½ b; March 2.25.

A SPECIAL OBJECT

It is a common practice for people to lay aside money for a special object; to satisfy a particular need; or to provide against a possible emergency. Our facilities for handing such business are most excellent. When money has been left with us for a specific purpose, we carefully carry out the desires of the depositor.

UNIVERSITY HEAD TO DELIVER ADDRESS

Dr. Albert Edwin Smith, Ohio Nothern, To Speak at Marseilles

Marseilles, Nov. 4—Dr. Albert Edwin Smith, president of Ohio Northern University of Ada, will be the principal speaker at the cornerstone laying of the new school building here, Sunday.

Master Masons of Toledo will lay the cornerstone with Masons of Marion, Upper Sandusky, Kenton and other points assisting.

Mrs. S. Buckingham, graduate of Marseilles high school in 1872, has secured the names of 1,150 students, who attended the Marseilles school between the years of 1871 and 1927, which will be placed in the cornerstone.

Along with the names of the students will be a list of men of this community, who served their country in time of war, which has been compiled by M. L. Esser, World War veteran. Included in the list are the names of three Revolutionary War soldiers, three veterans of the War of 1812, 59 Civil War soldiers, 15 Spanish-American War Veterans and 24 World War soldiers.

Officers were nominated in a sophomore assembly yesterday morning and elected by ballot in the English classes throughout the day.
